ALL THREE LEADS FOR PREPAREDNESS MOVING FORWARD

ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL, CARRYING $150,000,000, AGREED ON BY HOUSE MILITARY COMMITTEE AND WILL BE SUBMITTED TUESDAY.

SPECIAL RULE FOR NAVAL BILL

Hay-Chamberlain Army Reorganization Act, Already Passed by Both Branches, Goes to President Wilson for Signature—Big Sum Set Aside for Federalizing National Guard.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 25.—All three of the administration big preparedness measures moved forward a step toward enactment today.

The army appropriation bill, carrying $150,000,000, was agreed upon by the house military committee; democratic leaders of the house prepared a special rule under which the naval appropriation bill will be voted on not later than Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the Hay-Chamberlain army reorganization bill already passed by both houses of congress was sent to President Wilson for his signature.

Secretary Baker now is going over the reorganization bill and as soon as he makes a report the president is expected to sign it.

General debate on the naval bill will be limited to eight hours or less in the special rule to be presented to the house, but the entire measure will be read and amendments may be offered at any time. The republicans will make a fight for a larger building program in accordance with their minority report submitted today.

The democratic leaders, however, expect that the bill with its provision for five great battle cruisers will be passed by a substantial majority.

The army appropriation bill was agreed upon unanimously by the committee and ordered reported to the house. It includes the reorganization provisions of the Hay-Chamberlain bill and is the largest regular army supply measure in the history of congress.

The bill will be submitted to the house by chairman Hay next Tuesday, but according to Mr. Hay, will not come up for consideration in the house until after the national political conventions.

The national guard bill, which provides for the federalization of the militia, whose term is provided for in the reorganization bill, gets close to twenty-five million dollars in the appropriation bill to carry the plan into effect.

The $2,000,000 appropriation is to be available for experimental work by the council, advisory committee and subordinate bodies and employees.

For purchase and repair of airplanes the bill provides one million dollars which is in addition to the large sums appropriated for aviation in recent deficiency appropriation bills.

The pay of the national guard, now to be for the first time on the government payroll, totals $9,725,000, of which $7,500,000 is for the enlisted men and $2,225,000 for the officers.

The arming, uniforming and equipping of the national guard foots up four million dollars; field artillery of the national guard three million dollars and national guard ammunition three millions. There are other large items for the national guard, including two and a half million for its field maneuvers and encampments in connection with the army.

Other officers elected include Leon Goodman, San Antonio, Texas, vice president, and James Lusseter, Jacksonville, Fla., secretary-treasurer.

The 1917 convention city will be formally selected at a meeting of the board of directors to be held within thirty days.

Oil Company Raises Wages. Tulsa, Okla., May 25.—The board of directors of the Tulsa Oil and Gas company, in session at Independence, Kans., today announced an increase of ten per cent in the salaries of all field employees throughout Oklahoma.

The raise was made as of May 1. An eight-hour work day is to be inaugurated by the company shortly. Hundreds of workmen are affected.

DAY IN CONGRESS. Senate. Resumed debate on rivers and harbors appropriation bill.

Ship purchase bill referred to sub-committee of commerce committee. Recessed at 5:05 p. m. to 11 a. m. Friday.

House. Considered District of Columbia appropriation bill.

Adopted joint resolution making minimum speed of fleet submarines and authorized last year 19 knots an hour, instead of 20 knots, because of contract difficulties.

Republican members of naval committee submitted minority report, attacking pending naval bill as inadequate.

Adjourned at 5:59 p. m. to 11 a. m. Friday.

Life Long Story of Crimes Told by Dr. Waite in Effort To Save Himself From Chair

By the Associated Press.

New York, May 25.—Dr. Arthur Warren Waite calmly recounted on the witness stand tonight, in an effort to save himself from conviction of the murder of his father-in-law, John E. Peck, by showing that he was of sound mind, how he attempted to cause the death of Miss Catherine Peck, the wealthy aunt of his wife, and his benefactor, by feeding her disease germs.

He tried to kill his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Peck, in the same way before resorting to poison as a more effective means. He testified in addition regarding his relations with Mrs. Margaret Horton, his "studio" companion.

Waite said he put ground glass in a can of marmalade and gave it to his wife.

He also put disease germs in a can of fish and gave that to her. Afterward he frequently gave her various germs, including typhoid, while he was studying.

ADMITTS GIVING GERMS TO WIFE.

The trouble with the germs, Waite said, was that they were not virulent enough. He began to take an interest in bacteriology long before his marriage, he explained. After he had given germs to Miss Peck for a while because of his lack of success, he put the germs in her food, but denied that he gave her arsenic.

"Was there any arsenical fly paper in her room?" the dentist was asked. "Oh, yes," he answered. "I read somewhere of an arsenical fly paper which if treated and put in a person's pocket would cause death, so I got some and put it in her room."

"Did you administer any bacteria to Mrs. Peck?"

"Yes, soon after she arrived. I had been working on them for some time and had them all ready for her."

MILLIONS OF GERMS GIVEN TO MRS. PECK.

He had given Mrs. Peck millions of germs, he said.

Asked how many kinds of germs he administered to Mr. Peck, Waite replied: "Typhoid, diphtheria, pneumonia and others. I gave him a spray and put diphtheria and later pneumonia germs in it and had him spray his throat every time he went out. They had no effect and I tried to make them stronger."

"I put water in the sheets of his bed so that he would catch cold, and I didn't," he said. "I also put a chemical compound in his room which would create a poisonous gas, but it failed to produce results. One night I turned on the gas, but the superintendent of the hotel came up and turned it off. Finally I gave him arsenic."

BECAME FOND OF MRS. HORTON.

Telling of his acquaintance with Mrs. Horton, Waite said he "became very fond of her."

"Did she seem to reciprocate?" asked his counsel.

"She did," Waite replied.

He then told of taking up with her the study of foreign languages and dramatic expression.

"At 10 o'clock in the morning," he said, "we used to go to school together. Then we would have luncheon somewhere. Afterward we would go to the opera, where their studio" (he meant, he said, "I would take her to my studio") and would return for her. Then we would go to the plaza and study languages and play for a couple of hours."

"You used to go to school together?"

"I wanted them to die," he said.

"Why?"

TELLS LONG STORY OF YOUTHFUL CRIMES.

Early in his examination tonight, Waite admitted that he had been a bad boy since he was a boy.

Earlier in the day his counsel had stated he would prove the self-confessed poisoner of his wife's parents was insane at the time the crime was committed.

The prisoner's story was devoted largely to admission of a series of thefts from the time he was a boy until he pilfered $10 from the purse of the mother of the girl he married while he was courting Miss Peck.

He also told of his wooing of his wife, who sat not far from him in the courtroom with head bowed while he testified. The young dentist was preceded on the witness stand by his father, W. W. Waite, and his brothers, Frank and Clyde.

PARENTS AND FRIENDS TELL OF INCIDENTS.

The father told of a faint of insanity in his family in the hope of thereby aiding his son.

All three related incidents in the dentist's life designed to show that he was peculiar even as a boy and that his thievery always was a problem for the family.

The testimony of relatives was supplemented by the depositions of family friends and college classmates of Waite, who told of his thefts and peculiarities.

Waite seemed calm when he took the witness stand.

He smiled almost constantly during his examination, but appeared resigned and not defiant.

The dentist commenced his life story by recalling that as a child he was cruel to animals. He told of shirking home work in his school days. He then recounted how he stole examination papers, copied them from papers of his classmates, stole from every one for whom he worked as a boy and then robbed his fraternity brothers while attending the University of Michigan.

His total thefts during his freshman year at college amounted to about $500, he said. He was expelled from the university while a sophomore for stealing, but was reinstated in his senior year.

In his second college year he paid part of his expenses by waiting on the tables and caring for a furnace. At that time he began to attend church regularly, although he had no religious connections. He asserted, however, that he did not steal during the time he was a church attendant.

CHEATED AT POOL ON CANADIAN TRIP.

After leaving college he told of a trip through Canada, where he made his living by cheating at pool. He then went to Scotland where he took a special course in Edinburgh university.

He said he "doctored" his diploma at the University of Michigan so he could get credit for certain studies and thereby shorten his course in dentistry.

From Edinburgh, Waite went to South Africa, where he traveled for a dental supply house.

He said he stole $1,500 from his employers the first year and increased the amount each year of the five he worked for them.

He also told of hushing up, by the payment of a small sum, a scandal in which he was involved.

Upon leaving South Africa, Waite returned to the United States and went to Grand Rapids to live. Soon after his arrival there he met Miss Peck and began to court her.

"Were you in love with her?" he was asked.

"I don't know," Waite replied.

Then he told of declaring to her, "I'll make you know that the Pecks were very wealthy."

STOLE TEN DOLLARS FROM FIANCEE'S MOTHER.

Later he met the Pecks at Palm Beach, and it was there Miss Peck consented to marry him. He hung his head as he admitted the theft of a $10 bill from Mrs. Peck's purse while at the Florida resort.

Telling of his betrothal to Miss Peck, he said that two weeks before their marriage he almost broke their engagement.

"I was not so sure of her love," he explained.

He then told of coming to New York with his bride and taking an apartment on Riverside Drive. She was established in her own home, he formed an acquaintance with Miss Katherine Peck, the elderly and wealthy aunt of his bride, for whom he handled large sums of money.

Final of his personal funds and Miss Peck's became so confused he could not tell which was hers or his.

When court adjourned tonight, the stand and Justice Shearn still on the stand and Justice Shearn announced that he would hold a night session.

There were scores of dinners and receptions tonight. Mrs. Pennybacker was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Texas delegation. She was presented with a diamond ring valued at $1,000. Among the speakers were Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Mrs. William J. Bryan, Mrs. Sneath and Mrs. Cowles.

The servant problem was discussed. No solution was offered.

TEXAS GUARDSMEN MUST FACE TRIAL BY COURT MARTIAL

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN REFUSING TO SIGN MUSTER MAY BE FINED OR IMPRISONED. NO ANNOUNCEMENT AS TO OTHER MILITIA.

By the Associated Press.

Little Rock, May 25.—Mrs. Mary Gahbert, 70 years old, arrived in Little Rock today, after having walked a hundred miles, to ask Governor Hays to pardon her son.

The governor granted her plea, and the son, J. T. Gahbert, serving a three-year sentence for grand larceny, will be set free tomorrow.

The aged woman was accompanied by her 8-year-old grandson. She was three weeks walking from her home at Dermott, Ark.

She said she had no money for railroad fare and believing that she could induce the governor to free her son, decided to make the journey on foot.

Smithville was not one whit behind Bastrop, either, and the splendid supper served the tired Wacoans by the Catholic ladies of that city will ever be remembered. It wasn't a supper, but a veritable feast.

"I am more than gratified with the success of the trip," said President Perry A. Duncan, last night. "I believe that more real, solid good has been accomplished than on any other trips that were more spectacular."

Many others on the train expressed themselves similarly. The pleasant surprise was not one whit behind Bastrop, either, and the splendid supper served the tired Wacoans by the Catholic ladies of that city will ever be remembered. It wasn't a supper, but a veritable feast.

It is an increase of about nine million dollars over last year's bill.

The bill will be submitted to the house by chairman Hay next Tuesday, but, according to Mr. Hay, will not come up for consideration in the house until after the national political conventions.

The national political convention, which term is provided for in the reorganization bill, gets close to twenty-five million dollars, the appropriation bill to carry the plan into effect.

The $2,000,000 appropriation is to be available for experimental work by the council, advisory committee, and subordinate bodies and employees.

For purchase and repair of airplanes the bill provides one million dollars which is in addition to the appropriation for aviation in recent deficiency appropriation bills.

The pay of the national guard, now to be for the first time on the government payroll, totals $9,725,000, of which $7,500,000 is for the enlisted men and $2,225,000 for the officers.

The summing up of the national guard foots up four million dollars; field artillery of the national guard three million dollars and national guard armaments three millions. There are other large items for the national guard, including two and a half millions for its field maneuvers and encampments in connection with the army.

The dentist commenced his life story by recalling that as a child he was cruel to animals. He told of shirking home work in his school days. He then recounted how he stole examination papers, copied them from papers of his classmates, stole from every one for whom he worked as a boy and then robbed his fraternity brothers while attending the University of Michigan.

His total thefts during his freshman year at college amounted to about $500, he said. He was expelled from his fraternity while a sophomore for stealing, but was reinstated in his senior year.

In his second college year he paid part of his expenses by waiting on the tables and caring for a furnace. At that time he began to attend church regularly, although he had no religious connections. He asserted, however, that he did not steal during the time he was a church attendant.

Parents and friends tell of incidents.

The father told of a latent of insanity in his family in the hope of thereby aiding his son.

All three related incidents in the defendant's life designed to show that he was peculiar even as a boy and that his thievery always was a problem for the family.

The testimony of relatives was supplemented by the depositions of family friends and college classmates of Waite, who told of his thefts and peculiarities.

Waite seemed calm when he took the witness stand. He smiled almost constantly during his examination, but appeared resigned and not defiant.

TEXAS GUARDSMEN MUST FACE TRIAL BY COURT MARTIAL

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN REFUSING TO SIGN MUSTER MAY BE FINED OR IMPRISONED, NO ANNOUNCEMENT AS TO OTHER MILITIA.

MANY FAINT AT INOCULATION

Indications Point Toward Calling Out Oklahoma Troops Also, Railroad Preparing to Haul Commands—New Mexico Not Refusing to Serve, Says Governor.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 25.—One hundred and sixteen Texas national guardsmen who have failed to respond to the call for service on the Mexican border will be tried by court martial, by order of President Wilson.

The offense for which they will be tried may be punished by fines or imprisonment, as the court may direct, with the approval of the president.

Secretary Baker announced that the guardsmen would be tried promptly under the Dick law, reversing a previous decision to delay action to deal with the cases under the new Hay-Chamberlain army reorganization bill. The president himself will appoint the court martial and Major Funston has been instructed to recommend its members, a majority of whom must be from the Texas guard.

NO STEPS AS TO OTHER STATES.

So far no steps have been taken toward proceeding New Mexico and Arizona guardsmen who, like the Texans, have failed to present themselves for muster. A further report from General Funston regarding them is awaited.

Secretary Baker tonight issued the following statement:

"The Dick bill provides as an offense the failure on the part of members of the national guard to present themselves for muster when called upon by the president to do so. One hundred and sixteen members of the Texas national guard are reported to have failed to so present themselves. Under the Dick bill they are guilty of failure to present themselves for muster."

DICK BILL STILL IN EFFECT.

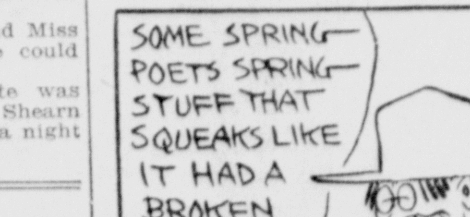

"When the legislation is approved and the militia of the states is reorganized and federalized thereunder, the obligation of the enlisted men of the national guard will be to present themselves for muster to the United States and their respective states and the lawful orders of the president and the governors of their respective states. Thereafter when the president issues a call to the national guard, the call will, of its own force, muster each member of the guard into the federal service and it will no longer be necessary for the men to present themselves for muster."

"The offense denounced by the Dick bill therefore will be impossible, as it will not be required that the men should present themselves for muster. The Dick bill, not being repealed, will continue to have full force and effect in question having taken the oath to preserve the constitution of the United States and obey the lawful orders of the president."

AGED MOTHER WALKS HUNDRED MILES AND GETS SON PARDONED

By the Associated Press.

Little Rock, May 25.—Mrs. Mary Gahbert, 70 years old, arrived in Little Rock today, after having walked a hundred miles, to ask Governor Hays to pardon her son.

The governor granted her plea, and the son, J. T. Gahbert, serving a three-year sentence for grand larceny, will be set free tomorrow.

The aged woman was accompanied by her 8-year-old grandson. She was three weeks walking from her home at Dermott, Ark.

She said she had no money for railroad fare and believing that she could induce the governor to free her son, decided to make the journey on foot.

She had intended to walk to the state farm at Tucker, 35 miles from Little Rock, to deliver the pardon to her son, but abandoned the plan because she said she was "plumb wore out."

To Still Expel for Card Playing

By the Associated Press.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 25.—The penalty of expulsion provided in paragraph 271 of the book of discipline of the Methodist Episcopal church for members who play cards, dance, attend the theatre or engage in similar amusements will remain in effect for another four years, at least, as the result of action taken today by the general conference. An attempt to obtain the removal of the prohibition failed by a vote of 43 to 269.

The figures are almost identical with those of four years ago when a similar proposal was defeated.

Paragraph 271 of the book of discipline, which is the basic law of the church, was enacted in 1872, and has remained virtually without change.

It has been urged as a basis for removal that this section is never enforced, and that the specific warning is given to students made quite a favorable impression. Little Charlie Parker Jr., the diminutive base drummer, proved a delight to the crowds almost everywhere he appeared.

The balance of voting power was held today by the eighty or more representatives of negro conferences, who threw their support almost solidly against any change. The foreign delegates were divided.

Charles James R. Day of Syracuse university read the report of the minority asking for a change and Frank Neff of Tulsa, Okla., read the opposing recommendation.

It was decided to postpone the balloting for editors of the church publications, which had been made an order of business for the day.

Irish Factions Are All United

By the Associated Press.

London, May 25.—The house of commons has rarely seen a demonstration of greater unity than was displayed this afternoon when the leaders of all factions flocked to the standard of the prime minister in an effort to achieve a lasting settlement of the Irish question.

This was the more concerned because heated debate had been predicted would follow Premier Asquith's expected statement regarding the Irish question and the government's proposals for a solution of the problem. Mr. Asquith's speech took an unexpected turn for instead of giving details, he made an earnest plea for the settlement of the Irish question by agreement among the contending parties in Ireland and announced that David Lloyd George had undertaken the delicate task of bringing the hostile factions together.

The premier concluded with an appeal that for a time all debate on the question both in the house of commons and outside be suspended in view of the adverse effect such argument might have in the difficult undertaking facing the government.

John Redmond, the nationalist leader, acquiesced in the premier's request, adding in a voice filled with emotion his ardent desire for a solution of his country's troubles.

Mr. Redmond was quickly followed by his political enemy, Sir Edward Carson, who tendered his support to the proposition, and by the independent Irish leader, William O'Brien, who did likewise.

Expect Decision on Double Primary Tax Soon

By the Associated Press.

Port Worth, May 25.—It is expected that the supreme court will pass on the double primary tax within twenty days following the filing of the injunction suit here yesterday. A precinct candidate has secured an injunction against paying towards the senatorial primary. County Chairman Smith asked for a quick hearing on the suit to be taken to the highest court at once. Attorney General Looney will represent the county chairman.

SMITHVILLE SPRING DRIVE ENDS IN Y. M. B. L. VICTORY

Second Trade Trip of Season, Over Katy, South, Is Proclaimed One of the Most Successful in History of Waco's Famous Business Organization.

MANY TOWNS AND CITIES ARE VISITED

Especially Cordial Receptions Received at Bastrop and at Terminal Point—Catholic Ladies of Smithville Score Triumph in Splendid Supper—Very Few Parades Are Given.

Traveling all day long among old friends, the Waco Young Men's Business League yesterday staged one of the most successful trade trips in its history. The route was over the Katy south to Smithville. There was not much hullabaloo or fuss of any kind and very few parades, but the success of business simply put out and worked the territory hard, lining up things for the future and especially stressing the coming 1916 Cotton Palace. The party consisted of 179 representative Waco business men.

Two especially bright spots stand out, Bastrop and Smithville. With her historic hospitality, Bastrop made the visit of the trippers most pleasant. Smithville was not one whit behind Bastrop, either, and the splendid supper served the tired Wacoans by the Catholic ladies of that city will ever be remembered. It wasn't a supper, but a veritable feast.

"I am more than gratified with the success of the trip," said President Perry A. Duncan, last night. "I believe that more real, solid good has been accomplished than on many other trips that were more spectacular. Many others on the train expressed themselves similarly."

The music was furnished by Charlie Parker's Baylor orchestra band and the students made quite a favorable impression. Little Charlie Parker Jr., the diminutive base drummer, proved a delight to the crowds almost everywhere he appeared.

The balance of voting power was held today by the eighty or more representatives of negro conferences, who threw their support almost solidly against any change. The foreign delegates were divided.

Charles James R. Day of Syracuse university read the report of the minority asking for a change and Frank Neff of Tulsa, Okla., read the opposing recommendation.

It was decided to postpone the balloting for editors of the church publications, which had been made an order of business for the day.

Those largely responsible for the success of the trip, being the men in charge, were:

Officers: Perry A. Duncan, president; E. C. Blomey, first vice president; William T. Wheeler, second vice president; J. E. Bain, third vice president; L. H. Hagedorn Jr., secretary; William L. Edmund, treasurer.

Trade Trip Committee—W. V. Crawford, general chairman; J. J. Hutchison, publicity; F. E. Goodman, treasurer; Frank J. Tran, secretary and clerks; John F. Wright, schedules; J. M. Penland, out-of-town eats; B. Fiske Wright, eats on trains; W. H. Hoffmann, music; S. N. Mayfield, banners; W. T. Wheeler, badges; W. V. Namam, amusements.

The Y. M. B. L. and members of the party also desire to thank the M. B. Ice-Cream company for the ice cream, which came in so welcome.

Evening was a good time. There was very little boisterousness, but an impromptu quartette, consisting of all the way from three to a dozen, was formed, and very little sleeping was done on the way back.

SMITHVILLE PROVES EQUAL TO OCCASION.

After a day's hard work, the Wacoans awaited Smithville and supper with eagerness. Automobiles met the trippers at the train, and they were whisked to their beautiful homes for about an hour. Cotton is much farther advanced around Smithville than in the vicinity of Waco and is in excellent condition and the Smithville citizens have been eating roasting ears from their own gardens for more than two weeks. Smithville is proud of her smooth roads, and she may well be.

Supper was served by the ladies of St. Paul's Catholic church. Long tables were spread with a superb abundance of good things to eat, and the Wacoans saw to it that things were kept moving. The supper was received enthusiastically and many were the compliments paid to the Smithville cooks.

Father O'Gallagher, pastor of the church, delivered the address of welcome. He is in Irishman and proud of it, which goes without saying. Father O'Gallagher said that he was more than glad to welcome the Wacoans because there were so many Irish faces in the crowd. Continuing, he said that Smithville was always glad to have the Waco business men visit there, and closed with the hope that even closer relations would exist between the two cities in the future.

The response was made by Tom Connolly of Maglin, who spoke as if he might have been Waco-born. He called attention to the fact that Waco and Smithville were linked up by the Katy, that each was important to the other and told the Smithville citizens that by helping make Waco grow, they would be helping themselves.

Mr. Connolly closed by telling a joke on his old time friend, Senator S. L. Staples, who was called on and answered by a witty rejoinder.

Good time was made on the return trip. Waco being reached at 10:35, ten minutes ahead of schedule time. The return trip was made in three hours and twenty minutes. Officials of the Y. M. B. L. in charge of the excursion are loud in their praise of the Katy for the excellent equipment provided, and for the fine manner in which the schedule was kept.

IRISH PROVE GOOD AT TRENCH FIGHTING

BRITISH AND SCOTCH BATTALIONS REFUSE TO PART WITH EMERALD ISLE MEN.

Many Interesting Stories Abound in Camps—Court Martial Record Blank.

British Headquarters, France May 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—There is a town at the British front which is the center of an Irish world. It is the headquarters town of the Sixteenth or Irish division. Irish voices are heard from the doorways of the houses. Flower pots of shamrock are on the mess tables of officers who gather for their meals in the modest sitting room of the local grocer or butcher where they are "billeted."

In his office, a general who is Irish to the fingertips talks about his troops who were fighting hard against the Germans during the Dublin riots. If he is asked if there are any Sinn Fein. men among them he will refer the inquirer to the men themselves. They enlisted in the Irish new army battalions in the face of the influence which produced Sinn Feinism. This gave them a distinction of character to start with their officers say.

Sturdy middle-aged men with stripes of color work in campaigns in India and South Africa, while serving with regular Irish regiments, some still wear kecks, some promoted to commissions have been the drill masters of vigorous youth from Mayo or Kilkenny or Clare or Cork. But most of the officers in common with most of the men had never been in uniform when the war began.

A major who is over six feet and broad in proportion, standing still as a ramrod in salute, who looks as if he had been soldiering all his life, was a farmer in Waterford. He recruited a company from the surrounding countryside and was given command. Promotion followed as it has for other beginners. Those captains who are members of parliament will get their own unless they are among the casualties which make room for others to rise. They say that they thought they could do better work for home rule at the front than in the commons.

"We wanted to draft the Irishmen who were in English and Scotch battalions into ours so we should have all the Irish at the front under one command," said the general, "but we could not make the arrangement. The other commanders would not part with their Irishmen. British battalions like to have a sprinkling of Irish among their numbers. My men have had every test of trench fighting, gas and shells and sniping—and they've disproved any idea that the Irish were not as good at sticking as in a changing trench. They've stuck like veterans. Native Irish good humor relieves the grim motony of the trenches."

As for discipline—there's the record of court-martials—the general indicated some blank spaces opposite the names of battalions on the wall—"everybody prophesied that we would have heavy drinking on St. Patrick's day because a lot of people have the idea that the Irish have a weakness for drink. I appealed to the men to be on their good behavior with the result that we did not have a single case of intoxication."

Up in the trenches held by the Irish, stories abound. When a big high explosive German shell tore a hole in the parapet a soldier who was sent to springing away the earth that had filled the trench had only fairly got started when another shell struck just behind him and half burying him. Having crawled out and looked around he saluted his captain and said:

"Sir, I have to report that at the present rate I'm finishing this job without help. They're gaining on me."

King Edward Signs Compulsion Bill.
By the Associated Press.
London, May 25.—King George today signed the military service bill, giving the royal sanction to the bill the king issued the following message to the nation:

"To enable our country to organize more effectively its military resources in the present great struggle, for the cause of civilization, I, having acted on the advice of my ministers, deemed it necessary to enroll every able-bodied man between the ages of 18 and 41. I desire to take this opportunity of expressing to my people my recognition and appreciation of the splendid patriotism and self-sacrifice they displayed in raising by voluntary enlistment since the commencement of the war no less than 5,041,000 men—an effort far surpassing that of any other nation in similar circumstances recognized in history and one which will be a lasting source of pride to future generations."

"I am confident the magnificent spirit which has hitherto sustained my people through the trials of this terrible war will continue to inspire them and that it will, with God's help, lead us and our allies to a victory which shall achieve the liberation of Europe."

The military bill provides for general and immediate compulsion and calls to the colors all males, married or single, between the ages of 18 and 41. An army reserve for industrial work also is provided for. Ireland is excluded from the operation of the law.

Illinois Youth Admits Choking Girl to Death

By the Associated Press.

Aurora, Ill., May 25.—Paul Verholme, alias Armstrong, a 19-year-old ne'er do well of this city, was held today on a charge of murdering Gwendolyn Holden, 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Anna Holden Collins, a rooming house keeper.

"The killing occurred yesterday and the girl's body was discovered last night."

Testimony at the inquest was brief. "I killed her; I choked her to death," testified Verholme.

"I had a date with her, but she wanted to break it to go with another fellow. She laughed at me and before I knew it my hands were around her throat. I wanted to choke that laugh off her face. I waited a while and by and by she quit breathing. Then I thought I would commit suicide, but I got cold feet and went to a saloon and took a beer to wash out the taste of the poison."

British Claim New Advantage in Mesopotamia

By the Associated Press.

London, May 25.—The Turkish force confronting the British below Kut-el-Amara in Mesopotamia has not effected a further withdrawal since that reported recently incident to the reassignment of the Turkish front after the surrender of Kut. The British, however, through their advance on the right bank of the Tigris, have been able to command with their artillery the line of Turkish communications on the opposite bank, according to official statement.

G O P Will Have Few Contests at Convention

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, May 25.—There will be fewer delegate seats contested at the republican national convention, which meets here June 7, than in any convention of the party in twenty years. With the 985 delegates to the 1916 convention elected with the exception of those from West Virginia, which will be chosen by direct primary June 6, only fifty-three contests have been filed with Secretary Reynolds of the republican national committee. Four years ago more than half the delegate seats were in dispute and the national committee held daily sessions more than three weeks hearing contests.

Secretary Reynolds today issued an official list of the contests filed, which include:

Oklahoma—Two delegates each from districts 2 and 8; total 4.

Texas—One each from districts 6 and 7 and two from district 14; total 4.

Charge Hollander With Trying to Sell State Secrets

By the Associated Press.

New York, May 25.—A man giving the name of Joseph De Leeuw, 34 years old, a native of Holland, was arrested tonight charged with revealing the contents of government documents and offering them for sale in violation of the penal law. De Leeuw is accused of offering to reveal to Capt. Guy Gaunt, naval attaché of the Netherlands embassy, the contents of seven letters which bore the seal of the imperial German embassy at Washington. Police Captain Tunney alleged that De Leeuw, whose arrest was caused by Captain Gaunt, confessed he offered the letters for sale because of financial embarrassment.

De Leeuw told the police he was in partnership with Felix Malitz in the cotton exporting business. He is said to have declared the letters were entrusted to him by Malitz for delivery to a man who was to sail for Holland. From the police, the papers were to have been smuggled into Germany.

The letters were in code, the police said, and bore the official seal of the German embassy.

Malitz explained that he received the letters from the secretary to Henry F. Albert, commercial attaché of the German embassy. He said he had no knowledge of what the letters contained. Malitz was not detained by the police.

King Edward Signs Compulsion Bill

By the Associated Press.

London, May 25.—King George today signed the military service bill, giving the royal sanction to the bill the king issued the following message to the nation:

"To enable our country to organize more effectively its military resources in the present great struggle, for the cause of civilization, I, having acted on the advice of my ministers, deemed it necessary to enroll every able-bodied man between the ages of 18 and 41. I desire to take this opportunity of expressing to my people my recognition and appreciation of the splendid patriotism and self-sacrifice they displayed in raising by voluntary enlistment since the commencement of the war no less than 5,041,000 men—an effort far surpassing that of any other nation in similar circumstances recognized in history and one which will be a lasting source of pride to future generations."

"I am confident the magnificent spirit which has hitherto sustained my people through the trials of this terrible war will continue to inspire them and that it will, with God's help, lead us and our allies to a victory which shall achieve the liberation of Europe."

The military bill provides for general and immediate compulsion and calls to the colors all males, married or single, between the ages of 18 and 41. An army reserve for industrial work also is provided for. Ireland is excluded from the operation of the law.

No New Orpet Jurors.
By the Associated Press.
Waukegan, Ill., May 25.—Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Orpet, parents of Will H. Orpet, charged with the murder of Marion Lambert, a former sweetheart, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lambert, parents of the dead girl, have been summoned as witnesses by the state and defense, it was revealed at the trial today.

The selection of a jury from among the business men of Waukegan and Lake Forest fared no better than it has during the week from Lake county farmers.

Only four jurors have been sworn in.

"LIBERTY GAGE" HAT WILL BE WORN BY DELEGATES TO WOMEN'S PARTY MEETING

Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain wearing "Liberty Gage" hat.

Attention is herewith called to the "Liberty Gage" as it will look when worn by Inez Milholland Boissevain, suffrage leader, at the Congressional union's women's party convention in Chicago, June 5 to 7. The "Liberty Gage" is the official hat for suffragists, the same as the policeman's helmet is the official headgear for guardsmen of the peace.

It is a smart tailored sailor of pure white straw combined with folds of dead white silk. On the left side is a clever ribbon trimming in the congressional colors, purple, white and gold, which many women will wear and save as a relic of the first time women as a deciding factor entered the political arena.

The hat will be on sale throughout the country and those who cannot attend the convention will be expected to wear it any way.

Verdun Storm Center Since Early Days of History

Special to the Morning News.

Washington, May 25.—A sinister destiny seems to have selected Verdun as one of the rocks of history around which the storms of battle between France and Germany shall rage repeatedly. The bulletin issued today by the National Geographic Society, whose headquarters is in Washington,

"It was in this city, for the possession of which the greatest battle in the annals of civilized man has been waged for weeks, that the treaty was signed which divided the empire of Charlemagne and established the German empire as a nation separate from France."

Continues the bulletin, "The treaty of Verdun which the ninth century by the Saxons and the district around Spire, Wormes and Mainz, fell to the lot of Louis, who very properly is known to history as Louis the German, for he may be considered the real founder of the German empire. Lothair, the eldest successor, assumed the title of emperor and secured the kingdom of Italy, together with Lorraine, Provence and Lyons. ## IRISH PROVE GOOD AT TRENCH FIGHTING

BRITISH AND SCOTCH BATTAL-IONS REFUSE TO PART WITH EMERALD ISLE MEN.

Many Interesting Stories Abound in Camps—Court Martial Record Blank.

British Headquarters, France May 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—There is a town at the British front which is the center of an Irish world. It is the headquarters town of the Sixteenth or Irish division. Irish voices are heard from the doorways of the houses. Flower pots of shamrock are on the mess tables of officers who gather for their meals in the modest sitting room of the local grocer or butcher where they are "billed."

In his office, a general who is Irish to the fingertips talks about his troops who were fighting hard against the Germans during the Dublin riots. If he is asked if there are any Sinn Feiners among them he will refer the inquirer to the men themselves. They enlisted in the Irish new army battalions in the face of the influence which produced Sinn Feinism. This gave them a distinction of character to start with their officers say.

Sturdy middle-aged men with stripes of color won in campaigns in India and South Africa while serving with regular Irish regiments, some still serious, some promoted to commissions have been the drill masters of vigorous youth from Mayo or Kilkenny or Clare or Cork. But most of the officers in common with most of the men had never been in uniform when the war began.

A major who is over six feet and broad in proportion, standing still as if he had been soldered all his life, was a farmer in Waterford. He recruited a company from the surrounding countryside and was given command. Promotion followed as it has for other leaders. Those captains who are members of parliament will get their now unless they are among the casualties which make room for others to rise. They say that they thought they could do better work for home rule at the front than in the commons.

"We wanted to draft the Irishmen who were in English and Scotch battalions into ours so we should have all the Irish at the front under one command," said the general, "but we could not make the arrangement. The other commanders would not part with their Irishmen. British battalions like to have a sprinkling of Irish among their numbers. My men have had every test of trench fighting, gas and shells and tramping—and these have proved any idea that the Irish were not as good as sticking as in a charge. They've stuck like veterans. Native Irish good humor relieves the grim monotony of the trenches."

"As for discipline—there's the record of court-martial"—the general indicated some blank spaces opposite the names of battalions on the wall—"everybody prophesied that we would have heavy drinking on St. Patrick's day because a lot of people have the idea that the Irish have a weakness for drink. I appealed to the men to be on their good behavior with the result that we did not have a single case of intoxication."

Up in the trenches held by the Irish, stories abound. When a big high explosive German shell tore a hole in the parapet a soldier who was set to shoveling away the earth that had filled the trench had only fairly got started when another shell struck just behind him, tearing another section of trench and half burying him. Having crawled out and looked around he saluted his captain and said:

"Sir, I have to report that at the present rate I can't finish this job without help. They're gaining on me."

Illinois Youth Admits Choking Girl to Death

By the Associated Press.

Aurora, Ill., May 25.—Paul Verhoeye, alias Armstrong, a 19-year-old ne'er do well of this city, was held today on a charge of murdering Gwendolyn Holden, 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Anna Holden Collins, a rooming house keeper.

The killing occurred yesterday and the girl's body was discovered last night.

Testimony at the inquest was brief. "I killed her; I choked her to death," testified Verhoeye.

"I had a date with her, but she wanted to break it to go with another fellow. She laughed at me and before I knew it my hands were around her throat. I wanted to choke that laugh off her face. I waited a while and by and by and by she quit breathing. Then I thought I would commit suicide, but I got cold feet and went to a saloon and took a beer to wash out the taste of the poison."

G O P Will Have Few Contests at Convention

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, May 25.—There will be fewer delegate seats contested at the republican national convention, which meets here June 7, than in any convention of the party in twenty years. With the 985 delegates to the 1916 convention elected with the exception of those from West Virginia, which will be chosen by direct primary June 8, only fifty-three contests have been filed with Secretary Reynolds of the republican national committee. Four years ago more than half the delegate seats were in dispute and the national committee held daily sessions more than three weeks hearing contests.

Secretary Reynolds today issued an official list of the contests filed, which include:

Oklahoma—Two delegates each from districts 5 and 6; total 4.

Texas—One each from districts 6 and 7 and two from district 14; total 4.

The police, the papers were to have been smuggled into Germany.

The letters were in code, the police said, and bore the official seal of the German embassy.

Malitz explained that he received the letters from the secretary of the German embassy. He said he had no knowledge of what the letters contained. Malitz was not detained by the police.

King Edward Signs Compulsion Bill

By the Associated Press.

London, May 25.—King George today signed the military service bill. The king issued the following message to the nation:

"To enable our country to organize more effectively its military resources in the present great struggle, for the cause of civilization, I, having acted on the advice of my ministers, deemed it necessary to enroll every able-bodied man between the ages of 18 and 41."

"I desire to take this opportunity of expressing to my people my recognition and appreciation of the splendid patriotism and self-sacrifice they displayed in raising by voluntary enlistment since the commencement of the war no less than 5,941,000 men—an effort far surpassing that of any other nation in similar circumstances recognized in history and one which will be a lasting source of pride to future generations."

"I am confident the magnificent spirit which has hitherto sustained my people through the trials of this terrible war will continue to inspire them and that it will, with God's help, lead us and our allies to a victory which shall achieve the liberation of Europe."

The military bill provides for general and immediate compulsion and calls to the colors all males, married or single, between the ages of 18 and 41. An army reserve for industrial work also is provided for. Ireland is excluded from the operation of the law.

No New Orpet Jurors.

By the Associated Press.

Waukegan, Ill., May 25.—Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Orpet, parents of Will H. Orpet, University of Wisconsin student, on trial charged with the murder of Marion Lambert, a former sweetheart, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lambert, parents of the dead girl, have been summoned as witnesses at the trial today.

Progress in the selection of a jury from among the business men of Waukegan and Lake Forest had no better than 41 men during the week from Lake county farms.

Only four jurors have been sworn in.

"LIBERTY GAGE" HAT WILL BE WORN BY DELEGATES TO WOMEN'S PARTY MEETING

Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain wearing "Liberty Gage" hat.

Attention is herewith called to the "Liberty Gage" as it will look when worn by Inez Milholland Boissevain, suffrage leader, at the Congressional union's women's party convention in Chicago, June 5 to 7. The "Liberty Gage" is the official hat for suffragists, the same as the policeman's helmet is the official headgear for guardians of the peace.

It is a smart tailored sailor of pure white soft straw combined with folds of dead white silk. On the left side is a clever ribbon trimming in the congressional colors, purple, white and gold, which many women will wear and save as a relic of the first time women as a deciding factor entered the political arena.

The hat will be on sale throughout the country and those who cannot attend the convention will be expected to wear it any way.

Verdun Storm Center Since Early Days of History

Special to the Morning News.

Washington, May 25.—"A sinister destiny seems to have selected Verdun as one of the rocks of history around which the storms of battle between France and Germany shall rage repeatedly," says a bulletin issued today by the National Geographic society, whose headquarters is in Washington.

"It was in this city, for the possession of which the greatest battle in the annals of civilized man has been waged for weeks, that the treaty was signed which divided the empire of Charlemagne and established the nucleus of Germany, a nation separate from France," continues the bulletin. "The treaty of Verdun ended the ninth century by dividing the kingdom of Italy, to the three grandsons of the emperor. By its provisions, the Carolingian domains were partitioned, never again to be united under one ruler. The territory lying east of the Rhine and including Bavaria, Franconia, Thuringia, and the districts around Spire, Wormes and Mainz, fell to the lot of Louis, who very properly is known to history as Louis the German, for he may be considered the real founder of the German empire. Lothair, the eldest son of Louis the Pious, Charlemagne's great-grandson, assumed the title of emperor and secured the kingdom of Italy, together with Lorraine, Provence and Lyons. To Charles the Bold, his brother, he gave the lands of the Rhine, the Low Countries and the city of Brabant. To Charles he left the distinction of founding the French dynasty."

"But long before this treaty of 843, Verdun was assured a place on history's pages. The Romans, on the banks of the Meuse was known in the days of the Roman empire as the camp of Virodunum. It was destroyed by the barbarian invasions which occurred during the decline of the Caesars, and did not recover until the fifth century. In 502 it was seized by Clovis, who, actuated by religious zeal, incited by his wife, the Burgundian princess Clotilda, endeavored to subjugate all the non-Christian Frankish princes."

"In the eleventh century Verdun, having become a German city, was the scene of a bitter struggle between the burghers and the bishops of that see, the former finally winning important concessions. After the imperial town to the dignity of a bishopric in 1225, and a hundred years later was formally given to France, in whose possession it has remained, with the exception of the two occasions when it was besieged and captured by the Teutons."

"During the war of 1792 Verdun fell before the Germans after a heavy siege of only a few hours. When the conquerors entered the town, they were hospitably received by the fathers having sent a group of beautiful young girls to greet the strangers and to offer them dragees, the confection for which the place was famous. The inhabitants paid dearly for this remarkably cordial reception of the enemies of France, for when the revolutionists regained the city, after the battle of Valmy, history tells us, three of these young girls were put to death on the scaffold."

"Far different was the resistance which Verdun offered to the Prussians in the war of 1870. For three weeks the invaders rained a hail of lead and iron upon the city nestled among the vine-clad hills, the high ground being utilized by the Germans as points of vantage from which to operate their artillery. The beleaguered town finally surrendered, but France had learned a valuable lesson and almost immediately after peace was declared the construction of fortifications began, soon raising the city to a fortress of the first class, with a thirty-mile ring of sixteen large forts and twenty smaller works. On the northern heights the intervals between forts in some places are not more than 200 yards. "When hostilities began in August, 1914, Verdun was a town of about 20,000 inhabitants, more than a third of whom were soldiers."

"The city lies in the valley of the Meuse, 175 miles from Paris by rail, and only 45 miles from the strongly fortified German city of Metz. Before the war the chief articles of manufacture were hardware, confections, leather goods and liquors."

"Among Verdun's proudest possessions are four cannons occupying a place of honor in the exhibition of the Hotel de Ville. They were presented to the city by the government of France in recognition of the heroic resistance of the war the chief articles of manufacture were hardware, confections, leather goods and liquors."

"In 1916, Verdun's proudest possession are four cannons occupying a place of honor in the exhibition of the Hotel de Ville. They were presented to the city by the government of France in recognition of the heroic resistance of the war the chief articles of manufacture were hardware, confections, leather goods and liquors."

IN MEMORIAM OF SHORTCAKE.

All the way from Providence on the Atlantic coast to Seattle on the Pacific coast, the wall over the passing of the strawberry shortcake. With good reason, too, does the wall arise, for strawberry shortcake has become as strange and rare a delicacy as the nectar of Olympus, and well might Zeus and his companions have abandoned their celestial diet to a nicely baked toad, taken once of a feast of real shortcake transported from some southern diner table.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer is too overcome by emotion to make do more than bid a sad and hopeless farewell to the strawberry shortcake. The Providence Journal is bitter in its sorrow and rails out at the evil communications of foreign chefs, which is claims, have corrupted our good American cookery. "We thought that the willingness to accept a sham shortcake which is to the true as paper lace on a valentine is to real Valenciennes is symptomatic of the decline in our national moral fibre."

For the construction of a shortcake of the sort that mother used to make, do not mind hot and painstaking application. There was no cake of which the layers between and on top of which the strawberries were packed as close as they could lie, were rolled out of pastry dough, "shortened" to a nicely baked toad, turned. This marvel of cookery was dusted with sugar and butter to taste and served hot as soon as the berries were put into it.

And plain thick cream—no whipped or imitation whipped stuff—was the thing to eat on it in this day of tawdry make-believe who would take the trouble to create such a masterpiece?

We have often wondered how big a part merely by establishing a rule for serving real old-fashioned shortcake. And how many authors would beset the twentieth century maiden who could make such a dish!—New York Evening Sun.

Cavalry Horses Pass Through Waco

Six cars of cavalry horses designed for the government forces at San Antonio and on the Texas border passed through Waco yesterday, over the Katy railroad, a halt being made here to look after the stock.

The horses were fine ones, and were traveling in palace stock cars, showing the great care observed by the government in handling them. The horses came from some point in New York.

They are attached to the regular freight train on the Katy, which moves with the regularity of a passenger train.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT FOR FEDERATION BIENNIAL

Special to the Morning News. New York, May 26.—Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, yesterday delivered her report for the four years of her administration, which, in brief, says that she refuses to be considered for another term, since she believes in the rotation of office.

During the past four years she visited England, Ireland, Cuba, Alaska, and each state in the union with the exception of Wyoming. In all, she traveled one hundred thousand miles in the interest of the Federation, striving for the good that results from personal contact.

Her stay-at-home presidency was vastly important. An effort was made to allow no letter to remain unanswered more than forty-eight hours. Once each month a letter was sent to the Federation magazine, and nineteen articles were prepared for the Ladies' Home Journal. Publications such as the World's Court, the New York Post, the New York Sun, the Bookman and certain syndicates asked for and received articles relative to the cause. By far the most important work of the administration has been its constructive work. A close affiliation has been brought about between the General Federation, the State Federation, the individual club and the individual club woman.

A new method of selecting committees has been adopted. The board of directors selects the chairmen, and the other members of the committee are the various state chairmen. For example, under the head of "Cities" the board appoints a chairman. The other fifty members of the committee will be the state civic chairmen. Alliance has been formed with three departments of the government. First, an alliance which has proved mutually helpful has been formed between the Federation and the department of agriculture. The department of the interior, through Secretary Lane, has put many resources at the service of Mrs. John D. Sherman, the chairman of conservation. Under the department of labor the Federation has been closely associated with the children's bureau. The project of Americanizing the immigrant has ever received the closest attention of the General Federation. Secretary Wilson and Commissioner Caminetti have been of valuable assistance to the president in her efforts. As a climax in the chapter of construction, the president strongly advises that steps be taken toward internationalism. On the continent of Europe and other countries, little is known of the Federation, because there the great women's movement is represented by National Councils of Women, all united in the International Council of Women. The Federation consider joining the National Council of Women, already long established in the United States. She believes that when the war is over, women will have a great work to do in establishing cordial relations, and that international federation is the solution of the problem.

Definite Goals.

The administration has constantly urged the development of individual responsibility; the call of youth to service; the betterment of rural schools, with stress on the betterment of home conditions for the rural teacher. Americanization of the immigrant.

Recommendations.

In brief, the following recommendations were submitted: 1. That the convention go on record as favoring continued efforts toward the betterment of rural life and the Americanization of immigrants. 2. That strength-saving and money-saving itineraries for the diffusion of chairmen be arranged so that every state Federation might call upon two or more at each meeting. 3. That the best method of dealing with the motion picture be investigated.

4. The cultivation of the true Pan-American spirit; that a close study of the life and history of Latin-American peoples be urged upon the clubs. In closing, Mrs. Pennybacker paid a sincere tribute to the board, the state presidents, and the delegate body, thanking them for their co-operation and helpfulness during her administration. Her closing words were: "For the friendships that these four years have brought, for my increased faith in womanhood, for my abiding belief in the unity of national life, for these I thank you, because without the experience that has come through serving you, these blessings had not been mine."

MRS. LAYTON PUCKETT FOR MRS. SETH STRONG

A pretty compliment was paid Mrs. Seth Strong of Dallas by Mrs. Layton Puckett, in the form of a bridge party in her honor Wednesday afternoon. Flaming nasturtiums studded the rooms with glowing pots of color. The game was pleasantly interrupted by the appearance of a daintily served salad course. Mrs. Leslie Gardner was awarded first prize, a cut glass bowl. Picking up packages of butter in lumps weighing from one pound to thirty pounds and selling this to customers who had been secured, is the allegation made against H. D. Dunn, a man who has been in Waco about five months, and who made the claim that he was in the service of one of the railroads here.

The catch was made by Police Officers Nicholson and Todd, who were told by Chief of Police Guy McNamara that someone was stealing butter from the express companies and the M-B. Ice cream people. Officers Nicholson and Todd kept their eyes open for the culprit, and as a result alighted on Dunn, who was yesterday transferred from the calaboose to the county jail.

It is alleged that Dunn's method of procedure was to go to grocery stores, talk awhile, watch his chances, pick up one or two pounds of butter and "beat it." Also that he took thirty pounds of butter from a wagon at the Cotton Belt depot, the butter belonging to the M-B. Ice cream people.

Interurban Merger Is Passing Into Last Stages

Director W. D. Lacy of the Southern Traction company was here yesterday, having returned from Dallas, where he went to attend a meeting of representatives of this company and of the Texas Traction company regarding the proposed consolidation of the two interurban companies.

Mr. Lacy stated yesterday that the consolidation was perfected insofar as the work of the committees was concerned, and it only remained for stockholders to meet and ratify the proposition, when it will be practically settled. The consolidation, it is believed, will be a good thing for the men having stock in the two concerns, and it is believed it also will be a satisfactory arrangement for the public.

Cavalry Horses Pass Through Waco

Six cars of cavalry horses designed for the government forces at San Antonio and on the Texas border passed through Waco yesterday, over the Katy railroad, a halt being made here to look after the stock.

The horses were fine ones, and were traveling in palace stock cars, showing the great care observed by the government in handling them. The horses came from some point in New York.

They are attached to the regular freight train on the Katy, which moves with the regularity of a passenger train.

Woman's auxiliary of the First Baptist church meets at the church at 4 o'clock, circle 3 in charge.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT FOR FEDERATION BIENNIAL

Special to the Morning News.

New York, May 26.—Mrs. Percy V. Pennybaker, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, yesterday delivered her report for the four years of her administration, which, in brief, says that she refuses to be considered for another term, since she believes in the rotation of office.

During the past four years she visited England, Ireland, Cuba, Alaska, and each state in the union with the exception of Wyoming. In all, she traveled one hundred thousand miles in the interest of the Federation, striving for the good that results from personal contact.

Her stay-at-home presidency was vastly important. An effort was made to allow no letter to remain unanswered more than forty-eight hours. Once each month a letter was sent to the Federation magazine, and nineteen articles were prepared for the Ladies' Home Journal. Publications such as the World's Court, the New York Post, the New York Sun, the Bookman and certain syndicates asked for and received articles relative to the cause.

By far the most important work of the administration has been constructive work. A close affiliation has been brought about between the General Federation of the State Federation, the individual club and the individual club woman.

A new method of selecting committees has been adopted. The board of directors selects the chairmen, and the other members of the committee are the various state chairmen. For example, under the head of "Clubs" the board appoints a chairman. The other fifty members of the committee will be state civic chairmen. Alliance has been formed with three departments of the government. First, an alliance which has proved mutually helpful has been formed between the Federation and the department of agriculture. The department of the interior, through Secretary Lane, has put many resources at the service of Mrs. John D. Sherman, the chairman of conservation. Under the department of labor the Federation has been closely associated with the children's bureau.

The project of Americanizing the immigrant has ever received the closest attention of the General Federation. Secretary Cammeltt has been of valuable assistance to the president in her efforts. As a climax in the chapter of construction, the president strongly advises that steps be taken toward internationalism. On the continent of Europe and other countries, little is known of the Federation, because there the great women's movement is represented by National Councils of Women, all united in the International Council of Women. The retiring president asks that the Federation consider joining the National Council of Women, already long established in the United States. She believes that when the war is over, women will have a great work to do in establishing cordial relations, and that international federation is the solution of the problem.

Definite Goals.
The administration has constantly urged the development of individual responsibility; the call of youth to service; the betterment of rural schools, with stress on the betterment of home conditions for the rural teacher; the Americanization of the immigrant.

Recommendations.
In brief, the following recommendations were submitted:
1. That the convention go on record as favoring continued efforts toward the betterment of rural life and the Americanization of immigrants.

2. That strength-saving and money-saving itineraries for the different charmen be arranged so that every state Federation might call upon two or more at each meeting.
3. That the best method of dealing with the motion picture be investigated.

4. The cultivation of the true Pan-American spirit; that a close study of the life and history of Latin-American peoples be urged upon the clubs.
In closing, Mrs. Pennybaker paid a sincere tribute to the board, the state presidents, and the delegate body, thanking them for their co-operation and helpfulness during her administration. Her closing words were: "For the friendships that these four years have brought, for my increased faith in womankind, for my abiding belief in the unity of national life—for these I thank you, because without the experience that has come through serving you, these blessings had not been mine."

MRS. LAYTON PUCKETT FOR MRS. SETH STRONG
A pretty compliment was paid Mrs. Layton Puckett, in the form of a bridge party in her honor Wednesday afternoon. Planning tastefully studied the rooms with glowing spots of color. The game was pleasantly interrupted by the appearance of a daintily served salad course. Mrs. Leslie Gardner was awarded first prize, a cut glass bowl. Mrs. George Rotan, the consolation, correspondence cards, and Mrs. Seth Strong the guest prize, a cut glass vase. The tables were made up of Mesdames Ervin Colvin, Merchant Colvin, A. V. Moore, George Rotan, Leslie Gardner, Eva Prendergast, Jack Little, Lewis Earley, Luke Moore Jr., Bob Montgomery, Joe Mitchell, Dorothy McCutchan, Randolph Wilson, Peck, Pearson, Carl Lovelace, Bondurant, and Lang of Dallas.

WACO GIRL HONOR GUEST AT BRIDGE
A thoroughly informal event of Wednesday and a charming compliment to visitors was the bridge given in the afternoon by Mrs. C. P. Sherman, Jr., who entertained a few friends in honor of her guest, Miss Mabel Chambers of Waco. Miss Em Baker of Atlanta, Ga., the guest of Mrs. Neil T. Masterson and Miss Marie Combes of New York, who is visiting Miss Gladys Ewing.

Lovely nasturtiums, cosmos and zinnias adorning the hostess' home gave the color note, which was prettily featured in the accessories. The table and the dainty repast served afterward.—Houston Post.

THE TEA COZY CLUB WITH MRS. WELLS
The Tea Cozy club met in regular session with Mrs. L. M. Wells, Wednesday afternoon. One extra table was called into service for the few special guests. The first prize went to Mrs. J. H. Barnard, the guest prize to Mrs. Will Carroll, and the consolation to Mrs. Charles Moore. Mrs. Trade will entertain next week. Guests other than regular members were Mesdames Will Carroll, Dan Wyte, Elliott, A. C. Paul, Schubert, Ben Jennings, James Brodie, and Miss Lella Elliott.

MRS. B. B. WILSON GIVES ORPHEUM PARTY
Mrs. B. B. Wilson entertained with a matinee party at the Orpheum in honor of her guests, Mrs. Ernest Raines of Galveston and Mrs. W. T. Herbert of Oklahoma City. After the matinee the party sat down to a delightful luncheon at the Raleigh. The recipients of Mrs. Wilson's hospitality were Mesdames Robert Hatten, R. G. Wendland, Arthur Coleman, Vernon Staley, Paul Leeper, H. A. Orr.

BRIDAL BRIDGE WITH MRS. FRIEDLANDER
The Bridal Bridge met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Lella Friedlander. Mrs. N. V. Damon and Mrs. J. Simmons were called upon to substitute for absent members. A delicious four-course luncheon was served. The first honor was captured by Mrs. J. Segall, and the second by Mrs. Carl Seist. The guest trophy was awarded Mrs. Simmons. The Bridal Bridge will have for their next hostess Mrs. Milton Strauss.

WEDNESDAY EUCHE WITH MRS. BELL
The Wednesday Euchre club met in regular session with Mrs. Henry Bell. Mrs. A. V. Cross, Miss Murphy of West Virginia and Miss Suda Stewart were asked to substitute for absent members. Mrs. Camille Franklin won high score, Miss Suda Stewart the consolation. Mrs. Will McGregor is hostess for next Wednesday.

ST. PAUL'S GUILD HAS GARDEN PARTY
The ladies of the St. Paul's Guild are inviting all the members and friends of the church to meet with them for a good time in the way of a garden party on Mrs. Llewellyn Aubrey's lawn. The time is from 5 to 7. A free-will offering will be accepted.

Society Notes

Interesting news comes from the Women's clubs of El Paso. Five lots were recently purchased and work was begun Tuesday on the construction of the $20,000 building, to be the home of the Women's clubs. This ambitious enterprise was begun with only $4,000 on hand, and $5,000 promised. The women are getting ready for a campaign to raise the remainder needed for the club house. The club has 350 members.

In "A Business Letter to the American Woman," appearing recently in the Saturday Evening Post, Will Irwin gives several practical suggestions with reference to relief work in the foreign countries. "Keep on knitting," I used to wonder whether our women were not rather overdoing the business of knitting stockings for the soldiers. I find that the demand is still far greater than the supply. Knit stout woolen stockings in large sizes. Stripes and yet more stripes! Striped hose, striped dresses, striped skirts, striped waists, striped shoes, and now are four inches wide, and no end in sight to this craze for stripes. But they're pretty, aren't they?

Baking Helps
Learn to Regulate the Heat of Your Oven
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and keep an even surface. Have your oven moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen; then increase the heat, so as to brown it over quickly. Extreme heat stiffens the dough. If you stiffen the outside of the cake before the rising is complete, you stop the rising process. Then the leavening gas, forming inside, will bulge up the center, where the dough is still soft, and spoil the shape of the cake.

NOTES—Biscuits or other pastries made from stiff dough, that are cut into shapes for the oven, bake in a hot oven. This is because the cut surfaces of the dough do not seal over, but rather leave the pores open, allowing the leavening gas to escape and the heat to penetrate readily. Small ovens cool quickly; therefore they should be made several degrees hotter than a larger oven, and the less the door is opened the better. Do not attempt to bake bread and pastry together. Bread requires prolonged, moderate baking—a reverse.

Have a strong underheat for baking powder preparations, especially pastry. These are only a few of the many baking helps found in the K C Cook's Book—a copy of which may be secured by sending the colored certificate taken from a 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAGUES MFG. CO., Chicago.

Interurban Merger Is Passing Into Last Stages

Director W. D. Lacy of the Southern Traction company was here yesterday, having returned from Dallas, where he went to attend a meeting of representatives of this company and of the Texas Traction company regarding the proposed consolidation of the two interurban companies.

Mr. Lacy stated yesterday that the consolidation was perfected insofar as the work of the committees was concerned, and it only remained for stockholders to meet and ratify the proposition, when it will be practically settled. It is to become effective July 1.

The consolidation, it is believed, will be a good thing for the men having stock in the two concerns, and it is believed it also will be a satisfactory arrangement for the public.

Dr. Culver to Preach for Letter Carriers

Waco branch No. 494, National Association of Letter Carriers, of which Thomas V. Carroll is secretary, will hold their annual memorial service at the Austin Avenue Methodist church, corner of Twelfth and Austin streets, on next Sunday, May 28, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Rev. P. P. Culver will preach the sermon. It is the custom of the letter carriers to pay their tribute of love to the memory of their deceased associates each year in a memorial service held at some one of the different churches of the city. Last year their service was held at the First Presbyterian church. Rev. C. T. Caldwell officiating at the service. ## Shoplifter Chooses Butter as His Loot, Police Claim

Picking up packages of butter in jumps weighing from one pound to thirty pounds and selling this to customers who had been secured, is the allegation made against B. D. Dunn, a man who has been in Waco about five months, and who made the claim that he was in the service of one of the railroads here.

The catch was made by Police Officers Nicholson and Todd, who were told by Chief of Police Guy McNamara that someone was stealing butter from the express companies and the M. & I. ice cream people. Officers Nicholson and Todd kept their eyes open for the culprit, and as a result alighted on Dunn, who was yesterday transferred from the calaboose to the county jail.

It is alleged that Dunn's method of procedure was to go to grocery stores, talk awhile, watch his chances, pick up one or two pounds of butter and "beat it." Also that he took thirty pounds of butter from a wagon at the Cotton Belt depot, the butter belonging to the M. & I. ice cream people.

Just the right time to do your painting. The Behrens Drug Company lead on paint material.—Adv.

THE DAY IS AT HAND.

(Romans 13:12)

 The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light.

TALK THAT DOES NOT MEAN PEACE. In view of the numerous rumors which are afloat, and the coloring they receive from admitted facts, it is hardly to be doubted that Germany is tired of the war and indirectly seeking peace, while the allies are acting upon the theory that it will be better for them to delay the commencement of peace negotiations.

One does not need to look far to seek the cause of this attitude on the part of each of the belligerents.

To France, the war spells utter loss unless she recovers Alsace-Lorraine, and it is still in the hands of the Germans.

To Russia, all her sacrifices will have been in vain unless she gets an outlet from the Black Sea through the Dardanelles, and that is not possible, yet.

To England, the prestige lost in the far east can only be restored through the chastisement of the Turk, and that is yet to be administered.

To Italy, the war means new enemies without the gain of either new friends or new territory unless she shall recover her lost provinces from Austria.

To Germany, the realization has come that her strength is waning, and that the day is nearing when her resources will be exhausted.

To end the war now would leave all the prestige of the fighting with the Teutons, and the allies would have nothing to show for it but their war debts.

Kitchener foresaw what was coming when he foretold a long war. He knew Germany could not be whipped by force of arms, and he knew that England would win if the contest could be protracted for years. Time has vindicated his judgment.

The war will go on until Germany asks for peace, and she will defer that until the last ditch is reached in her financial struggle. This is the present outlook.

WHY, WHY CH, WHY? It was no passion for an outing which constrained former Senator Bailey, now an attorney of New York City, and an avowed foe of the Wilson administration, to come to Texas to assist in the control of the democratic state convention by the anti-Wilson faction.

His attacks on the administration have been published far and wide, and his antagonism to the president is more pronounced than that of Roosevelt.

But it is a reasonable conclusion that Mr. Bailey did not journey all the way from New York merely to help to modify the endorsement to be given by the democracy of Texas to the national administration.

There is something else at stake, and it is a pardonable curiosity to inquire what it is.

An extraordinary thing happened not long ago. While the state was rife with questions concerning the physical condition of Senator Culberson, Mr. Bailey came forward with a doctor's certificate to the effect that Senator Culberson's health is improving.

Why should Mr. Bailey officiate in the capacity of a national health officer?

When Mr. Bailey had troubles of his own in Texas, Mr. Culberson did not step to the front with any certificates in his favor. Mr. Bailey gave some outward evidence at the time of a recognition of that fact, and if he has a bad memory it was lately acquired.

On the whole, it is safe to venture a guess that Mr. Bailey's appearance at the San Antonio convention, and his exploits there, for a fuller explanation must be referred to that passage of scripture which speaks of "the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things unseen."

At the Fort Worth convention in 1908, the friends of Mr. Bailey refused to ratify the selection of delegates by congressional districts and to permit Mr. Tom Connally to go to the national convention as the choice of the Waco district. At the San Antonio convention, in 1916, the friends of Mr. Bailey found it convenient to repudiate their former course, and to adopt the district plan of selection. It is well to bear these facts in mind. There are other conventions ahead.

Mr. Love asserts that the nomination for national committeeman was stolen from him. This is a very grave charge, and the people are entitled to all the facts. He charges that counties which were instructed for him were counted for his opponent. This is also a very grave charge. Turn on the calcium.

Judge Poindexter loped into the fracas just in time to catch it where the axe hit the turkey. The judge has been so busy this year trying to kill John Johnson on his farm that he dropped a few yards behind the political procession.

One of the objections to sending a state convention to San Antonio is that when a fairly well-behaved fellow gets there, unless he is strictly on guard he may soon be looking down a sixty-foot well while trying to locate the milky way.

Mr. Bailey, who practices law in New York and politics in Texas, still vaunts his knowledge of the constitution, but the trouble is, the people have found out that his idea of what a constitution is merely reiterates what Mr. Bailey thinks it ought to be.

Governor Ferguson is a very discreet politician, but he seems to have overlooked the fact that there are many pairs of eyes looking anxiously forward to 1918.

If anybody thinks the proceedings at San Antonio are going to be helpful to anybody's senatorial aspirations, then somebody is mighty badly fooled. Mark this prophecy.

THE PEOPLE WILL SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES.

The year 1892 was memorable in the politics of Texas. Hogg had inaugurated the reforms that have given him a place in the nation's history, and the opposition to his policies broke into open revolt. The democratic state convention which chose delegates to the national convention met at Lampasas, and it was dominated by the leaders of the opposition to Hogg. The people of Texas have never taken an interest in this sort of convention, and hence it has always been easy for the politicians to control it for their own ends.

The Lampasas convention, however, had a sequence which was not foreseen by the politicians. Its proceedings roused the people to action. They were forewarned, and rose up in all their power and dominated the succeeding state nominating convention.

The history of 1892 will be repeated in 1916.

The anti leaders threw down the gauntlet at San Antonio. The people will be prompt to take it up.

The San Antonio convention had no commission from the people to voice their will on the subject of national prohibition. Its utterances on that subject represent nothing but the manipulation of politicians who, for the most part, are either candidates for office or expect to become candidates for office. They misrepresented the people, as they always do, because they always play for the favor of special interests.

The state nominating convention will speak with authority for Texas democracy. Let the people see to it that their authorized and trusted spokesmen are put on guard in that convention. They know now what to expect from the anti leadership, and they know whom to trust.

Let the people swarm into every precinct convention, and adopt iron-clad resolutions, and select as delegates only those who will faithfully carry out their instructions.

Texas democracy did not get a square deal at San Antonio. It will speak with its own voice in the coming state convention.

The prohibition forces fight in the open. They do not know how to manipulate conventions, but they know how to walk up to the polls and vote. They are going to the mass meetings and the polls, and they are going to tear that unauthorized San Antonio declaration to tatters and scatter it to the four winds of heaven.

That was rather a rough dose administered at San Antonio to the Houston Post, but the fishing is good on the coast, and our friends down there will know where to find consolation.

Henry Ford says the people will "attend to" Roosevelt at the proper time. He probably means that the people will stick tacks in his tire and pour vinegar in his gasoline tank.

When Mr. Bailey took that Wilson oyster on the half shell without squirming, he gave visible evidence that time has taught him something in the way of patience and cheerfulness.

England will hear from us this week with a request in rail-splitting English that she will keep her hands off our mails on the way to neutral countries. And she won't pigeon-hole the suggestion.

Judge Watkins will soon be able to give personal testimony that "the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church."

There is no use trying to dodge the issue: the only way to have political peace in Texas is to fight like a buzz saw for it.

TEXAS SIFTINGS

Accompanied by thirty-five experienced miners, A. J. McQuatters of the Alvarado mine, and Miguel Contreras of El Paso, left for Parral, Mexico, where operation of some of the properties of that company will be resumed as soon as working forces can be organized. In normal times this company, which controls some of the richest properties in the Parral district, employs about 3,000 men. The Alvarado company is the largest to resume operations for several months.

For over a month a relentless war has been made on sand dogs in McKinney. The results have been gratifying. Heretofore it has been the custom to shoot them, but recently they have been electrocuted. A chute was built and when the dogs were driven into this they encountered a charge of 2,300 volts which caused almost instant death.

A great many Texas cities are raising monthly subscriptions to be sent to companies from the respective towns who are now at Fort Sam Houston. This money is being subscribed by patriotic citizens who desire to make life more comfortable for the soldier boys who answered the call for service on the Texas-Mexico border. Some cities have raised as much as $200 a month for companies.

Pablo Saenz and Victoriano Ramos, arrested at the Hotel Del Rio, El Paso, last week by the military and destroyer of justice authorities, charged with smuggling gold and silver bullion into the United States, and who admitted that they took part in the attack on American soldiers at Parral, have been deported to Juarez. Both men were taken to the international bridge under guard, and the moment they set foot on Mexican soil were placed under arrest by soldiers from the Juarez garrison. They are held in jail at Juarez, presumably for investigation into their activities at Parral. The men could not be prosecuted in the United States, because so far as could be proven, they had committed no crime here. The gold and silver which was alleged they smuggled across is said to have been sold, leaving no evidence. It would have been possible, it was said, to send the men to General Pershing in Mexico. He would have the power to try them and sentence them. Army officials, however, decided the better course would be to surrender the men to the de facto government officials in Juarez and permit them to take action in the case.

Governor Ferguson was host at a dinner at the Gunter hotel, San Antonio, Wednesday evening, May 24, to the following ladies: Mrs. W. C. West, Hillsboro; Oliver P. Harris, Whitney; C. L. Bell, Kansas City; J. E. Farnsworth, Dallas; Hal H. Sevier, Austin, and Walter Collins, Hillsboro.

The Rev. J. W. Hunt, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church of San Antonio, who was several weeks ago elected by the trustees of Stanford college as president of that institution, has

LOTT RIFLES HAVE CHANGE OF HEART ON ARMY SERVICE

Lieutenant Porterfield Says Thinks Company Will Return to San Antonio Soon.

Special to the Morning News. Martin, May 25.—Lieut. O. R. Porterfield of the Lott Rifles and mayor of that city, while in Martin this morning expressed it as his opinion that his company would be able to return to San Antonio within the next few days and be mustered into service, as he believed most of those who refused to muster into the federal service while at the mobilization headquarters have had a change of heart on the subject and are now about determined to go.

Marlin has a negro boy aged 14 who can outrun a jitney, especially when that machine contains two officers trying to catch him. This was proved yesterday when Officers Brack and Chilton started in chase of "A. He was found to have other booty on his person when arrested.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Miss Hannah's Spring Cleaning.

By LOUISE OLIVER.

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Miss Hannah was cleaning her attic. With sleeves rolled up over her plump elbows, her hair tucked securely under a blue dustcap and her figure completely hidden by a big apron she was reveling in housecleaning. Twice a year she indulged, and never was she happier than when routing imaginary germs and dust from always apparently immaculate domicile.

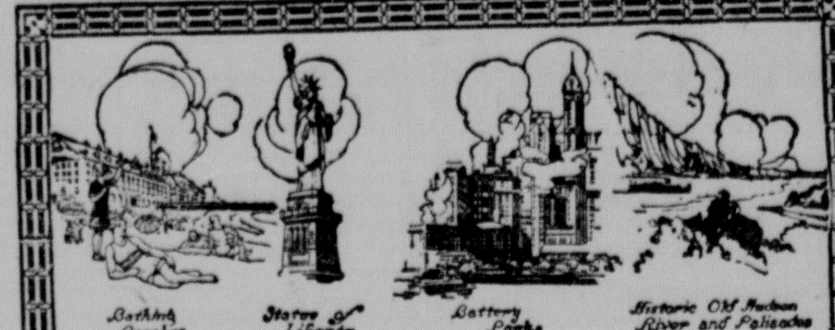

The warm, sweet breeze blew in through the open windows and with it came the perfume of apple blossoms. In fact, one of the feathery branches was waving inside a casement and Miss Hannah had to hold it tenderly aside with soapy fingers while she scrubbed the window sill beneath.

In her line of vision directly across the street, two figures passed one another, Miss Hannah, letting the apple branch fly back to its place, pausing in her scrubbing. To a casual observer nothing had happened except that a young man and a young woman had bowed to each other, but to Miss Hannah, with her sharp eyes and her knowledge of things and people, a tragedy had occurred. And, knowing this, she craned her neck just a little to get a better view of a certain house on the opposite side of the street.

"I thought so," Sam's outside, the cranky, miserly old sinner. Far be it from me to pass judgment on my fellow men, but I do certainly hope that some day he'll get his just deserts for ruining the lives of those two children! It's a shame, that's what it is. They are so dead in love with each other they'll never be a mite of good to the world. They got married, and there isn't a good reason why they shouldn't. Harley's got a right decent position, and if Sam Martin wasn't as tight as a fiddlestring he'd give Betty a nice, substantial wedding present and say, 'God bless you, my children!'

Miss Hannah wiped her eyes. "My heart aches for the poor dears. Dear knows Betty has been an angel to me since they got married, and I hadn't a thing to do but to take care of her. I wouldn't for a million dollars, if he is my very own cousin."

So worked up was Miss Hannah that housecleaning had lost its charms. She walked the length of the attic once or twice, and finally in desperation took off her cap and apron and pulled down her sleeves. Then, descending to the

President Says Will Protect Cotton

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 25.—President Wilson today told Senator Sheppard and Mr. D. Bowen of Paris, Texas, representing the Farmers' union of that state, that the American government is doing everything possible to protect the rights of American growers of cotton and other commodities wanted in Europe and would continue to seek the freedom of American trade from interference by Great Britain and other belligerents. Mr. Bowen complained that the farmers of the United States had lost $200,000,000 in 1914 alone. The president referred to the peace treaty with Great Britain as necessitating thorough discussion of the matter.

Kentucky Feud Flashes Anew With a Battle

By the Associated Press.

Lexington, Ky., May 25.—The Kimbell-Lacey feud in Wayne county, which has been lying dormant for some time, broke out today and in a general battle June Kimbell was killed and Calvin and George Lacey badly wounded, according to word received here.

It was not reported how many took part in the battle.

Long in Charge Texas Cavalry. By the Associated Press. San Antonio, May 25.—Captain John D. Long of the Third cavalry was placed in command of the squadron of Texas cavalry now encamped here, with the rank of major.

Captain Long was the first officer of the regular army to be given permission by the war department to accept a commission in the militia.

first floor, she went out and across the street where the enemy was working in a flower bed by the porch.

"Good morning, Sam!"

"Oh, it's you, Hannah! Betty's gone out."

"Yes, I saw her"—arms akimbo and eyes flashing—"and that's why I came. I want to have a good heart-to-heart talk with you. Suppose you leave that spading and come and sit down a minute so's you can listen."

"I can hear. What do you want? Another old baby needn't help! Nope, not today."

"Just wait till you're asked before you refuse, please. Heaven's buzzin! This minute with the wings of aid babies you still helped that fellow I came to see about Betty. She and Harley want to get married and there isn't a reason on this green earth why you should be so mean as not to let them. Why, Betty's been—"

The old man's eyes blazed and he brought his fist down into his palm with a force that made Miss Hannah jump.

"You keep quiet, you meddler. It's my business and not yours. Betty's mother married a poor man and I had to keep him when he got sick, and her, too, and after they both died it was the girl. And now she wants to marry a pauper. It'll be the same thing over again! What do you think I am, an institution for the down and out?"

"Betty's made it up to you. She's worked and made you a good, comfortable home. She deserves something. Besides, Harley is strong and isn't asking you to keep him or Betty either. She could still keep house for you if that's what you're afraid of. Remember, you are getting old, Sam. If you can't take your money with you when you die. Who are you going to leave it to?"

"Well, not to you anyway!" he snarled as he went into the house.

Miss Hannah went home crestfallen. She felt that she had only made matters worse for the two who had been so anxious to help. "The worst of Sam's meanness is," she reflected, "that he didn't make a cent of it himself. It was merely an accident of law that gave him that estate when there was no will, and I never could see why Brother Tom and I hadn't a right to some of it. Well, it's too late to mend things now, but I know what I'd do with money if I had it." She sighed. "This isn't gettin' the cleaning done, is it, sittin' here mourning for those two lambs? But the look in Betty's eyes just upset me so—there! I must finish scrubbing those window frames and get at those boxes."

It's you, but I've delivered a paper to a client, was on his way back to the once, and Betty, her errand finished, was on her way home when they met under a blossoming peach tree that spread over the fence of the Collins' yard. Not only had the young man's fancy lightly turned to thoughts of love, but every thought in his head, every wish of his heart, was for Betty, and when he saw her in her trim little blue dress and hat under the exquisite pink of the blossoms, such rapture and longing possessed him that it was all he could do to keep from taking her right into his arms out there on the street.

It was impossible to pass such a vision without stopping and whispering a word that brought the color flying to Betty's cheeks. "Oh, Harley," she protested, "you know we promised not to—"

She faltered and her eyes filled.

"Well, I was a fool to promise anything so impossible, and I'm going right over and tell him so. This is a free country, and I guess I can talk to whomever I please."

But it seemed he was to be spared the trouble of a trip in order to unburden himself to Betty's irate relative, for the old man, crossing the street to borrow a trowel from the Watsons looked their way and saw the lovers talking under the peach tree. Changing his course, he made straight in their direction.

Just then Miss Hannah, holding a yellow, much-creased paper in her trembling fingers and trying her best to convince herself that she was not dreaming, happened to look out of the window and saw exactly what was happening. Moreover, she divined what further was going to happen as soon as Cousin Sam reached the peach tree.

Without hesitating an instant, she ran downstairs and out of the front door, still holding the discolored bit of paper in her hand.

"Sam," she called. "Sam, wait a minute!"

But Sam didn't hear; at least he did not halt.

"Sam!" she called again. And, so running and calling, she reached the peach tree at the same instant that Betty's grandfather stepped up and shook his fist under Harley's nose. "Look here, Sam Martin," she cried excitedly, "I found granddaddy's last will up in the old chest, and Tom and I have a right to two-thirds of your money. I'm going to give my share to these two lambs this minute, and there's going to be a wedding at my house about tomorrow or I miss my guess. There now! You just step along back home out of my way, will you? I've got some things to talk over with Harley and Betty before lunch."

THE DAY IS AT HAND.

(Romans 13:12)

The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light.

TALK THAT DOES NOT MEAN PEACE. In view of the numerous rumors which are afloat, and the coloring they receive from admitted facts, it is hardly to be doubted that Germany is tired of the war and indirectly seeking peace, while the allies are acting upon the theory that it will be better for them to delay the commencement of peace negotiations.

One does not need to look far to seek the cause of this attitude on the part of each of the belligerents. To France, the war spells utter loss unless she recovers Alsace-Lorraine, and it is still in the hands of the Germans. To Russia, all her sacrifices will have been in vain unless she gets an outlet from the Black Sea through the Dardanelles, and that is not possible, yet.

To England, the prestige lost in the far east can only be restored through the chastisement of the Turk, and that is yet to be administered.

To Italy, the war means new enemies without the gain of either new friends or new territory unless she shall recover her lost provinces from Austria.

To Germany, the realization has come that her strength is waning, and that the day is nearing when her resources will be exhausted.

To end the war now would leave all the prestige of the fighting with the Teutons, and the allies would have nothing to show for it but their war debts.

Kitchener foresaw what was coming when he foretold a long war. He knew Germany could not be whipped by force of arms, and he knew that England would win if the contest could be protracted for years. Time has vindicated his judgment.

The war will go on until Germany asks for peace, and she will defer that until the last ditch is reached in her financial struggle. This is the present outlook.

WHY, WHY CH. WHY? It was no passion for an outing which constrained former Senator Bailey, now an attorney of New York City, and an avowed foe of the Wilson administration, to come to Texas to assist in the control of the democratic state convention by the antis. His attacks on the administration have been published far and wide, and his antagonism to the president is more pronounced than that of Roosevelt.

But it is a reasonable conclusion that Mr. Bailey did not journey all the way from New York merely to help to modify the endorsement to be given by the democracy of Texas to the national administration. There is something else at stake, and it is a pardonable curiosity to inquire what it is.

An extraordinary thing happened not long ago. While the state was rife with questions concerning the physical condition of Senator Culberson, Mr. Bailey came forward with a doctor's certificate to the effect that Senator Culberson's health is improving.

Why should Mr. Bailey officiate in the capacity of a national health officer?

When Mr. Bailey had troubles of his own in Texas, Mr. Culberson did not step to the front with any certificates in his favor. Mr. Bailey gave some outward evidence at the time of a recognition of that fact, and if he has a bad memory it was lately acquired.

On the whole, it is safe to venture a guess that Mr. Bailey's appearance at the San Antonio convention, and his exploits there, for a fuller explanation must be referred to that passage of scripture which speaks of "the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things unseen."

At the Fort Worth convention in 1908, the friends of Mr. Bailey refused to ratify the selection of delegates by congressional districts and to permit Mr. Tom Connolly to go to the national convention as the choice of the Waco district. At the San Antonio convention, in 1916, the friends of Mr. Bailey found it convenient to repudiate their former course, and to adopt the district plan of selection. It is well to bear these facts in mind. There are other conventions ahead.

Mr. Love asserts that the nomination for national committeeman was stolen from him. This is a very grave charge, and the people are entitled to all the facts. He charges that counties which were instructed for him were counted for his opponent. This is also a very grave charge. Turn on the calcium.

Judge Poindexter loped into the fracas just in time to catch it where the axe hit the turkey. The judge has been so busy this year trying to kill Johnson grass on his farm that he dropped a few yards behind the political procession.

One of the objections to sending a state convention to San Antonio is that when a fairly well-behaved fellow gets there, unless he is strictly on guard he may soon be looking down a sixty-foot well while trying to locate the milky way.

Mr. Bailey, who practices law in New York and politics in Texas, still vaunts his knowledge of the constitution, but the trouble is, the people have found out that his idea of what a constitution is merely reiterates what Mr. Bailey thinks it ought to be.

Governor Ferguson is a very discreet politician, but he seems to have overlooked the fact that there are many pairs of eyes looking anxiously forward to 1918.

If anybody thinks the proceedings at San Antonio are going to be helpful to anybody's senatorial aspirations, then somebody is mighty badly fooled. Mark this prophecy.

THE PEOPLE WILL SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES.

The year 1892 was memorable in the politics of Texas. Hogg had inaugurated the reforms that have given him a place in the nation's history, and the opposition to his policies broke into open revolt. The democratic state convention which chose delegates to the national convention met at Lampasas, and it was dominated by the leaders of the opposition to Hogg. The people of Texas have never taken an interest in this sort of convention, and hence it has always been easy for the politicians to control it for their own ends.

The Lampasas convention, however, had a sequence which was not foreseen by the politicians. Its proceedings roused the people to action. They were forewarned, and rose up in all their power and dominated the succeeding state nominating convention.

The history of 1892 will be repeated in 1916. The anti leaders threw down the gauntlet at San Antonio. The people will be prompt to take it up.

The San Antonio convention had no commission from the people to voice their will on the subject of national prohibition. Its utterances on that subject represent nothing but the manipulation of politicians who, for the most part, are either candidates for office or expect to become candidates for office. They misrepresented the people, as they always do, because they always play for the favor of special interests.

The state nominating convention will speak with authority for Texas democracy. Let the people see to it that their authorized and trusted spokesmen are put on guard in that convention. They know now what to expect from the anti leadership, and they know whom to trust.

Let the people swarm into every precinct convention, and adopt iron-clad resolutions, and select as delegates only those who will faithfully carry out their instructions.

Texas democracy did not get a square deal at San Antonio. It will speak with its own voice in the coming state convention.

The prohibition forces fight in the open. They do not know how to manipulate conventions, but they know how to walk up to the polls and vote. They are going to the mass meetings and the polls, and they are going to tear that unauthorized San Antonio declaration to tatters and scatter it to the four winds of heaven.

That was rather a rough dose administered at San Antonio to the Houston Post, but the fishing is good on the coast, and our friends down there will know where to find consolation.

Henry Ford says the people will "attend to" Roosevelt at the proper time. He probably means that the people will stick tacks in his tire and pour vinegar in his gasoline tank.

Judge Watkins will soon be able to give personal testimony that "the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church."

There is no use trying to dodge the issue; the only way to have political peace in Texas is to fight like a buzz saw for it.

TEXAS SIFTINGS

Accompanied by thirty-five experienced mining men, A. J. McQuatters of the Alvarado Mining and Milling company of El Paso, left for Parral, Mexico, where operation of some of the properties of that company will be resumed as soon as working forces can be organized. In normal times this company, which controls some of the richest properties in the Parral district, employs about 3,000 men. The Alvarado company is the first to attempt to resume operations for several months.

For over a month a relentless war has been made on stray dogs in McKinney. The results have been gratifying. Heretofore it has been the custom to shoot them, but recently they have been electrocuted. A chute was built and when the dogs were driven into this they encountered a charge of 2,300 volts which caused almost instant death.

A great many Texas cities are raising monthly subscriptions to be sent to companies from the respective towns who are now at Fort San Houston. This money is being subscribed by patriotic citizens who desire to make life more comfortable for the soldier boys who answered the call for service on the Texas-Mexico border. Some cities have raised as much as $200 a month for companies.

Pablo Saenz and Victoriano Ramos, arrested at the Hotel Del Rio, El Paso, last week by the military and department of justice authorities, charged with smuggling gold and silver bullion into the United States, and who admitted that they took part in the attack on American soldiers at Juarez, have been deported to Juarez. Both men were taken to the international bridge under guard, and the moment they set foot on Mexican soil were placed under arrest by soldiers from Juarez.

They are held in jail at Juarez, presumably for investigation into their activities at Parral. The men could not be prosecuted in the United States, because, so far as could be proven, they committed no crime here. The gold and silver which it was alleged they smuggled across is said to have been sold, leaving no evidence. It would have been possible, it was said, to send the men to General Pershing in Mexico. He would have the power to try them and sentence them. Army officials, however, decided the better course would be to surrender the men to the de facto government officials at Juarez and permit them to take action in the case.

Governor Ferguson was host at a dinner at the Gunter hotel, San Antonio, Wednesday evening, May 24, to the following ladies: Misses W. C. Wear, Hillsboro; Oliver P. Harris, Whitney; C. L. Bell, Kansas City; J. E. Farnsworth, Dallas; Hal H. Sevier, Austin, and Walter Collins, Hillsboro.

The Rev. J. W. Hunt, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church of San Antonio, who was several weeks ago elected by the trustees of Stanford college as president of that institution, has finally decided to accept and will go to Stanford about July 1 to assume his duties. The election and acceptance are subject to the appointment of Bishop E. D. Mouzon.

The special committee appointed at a recent meeting of the San Angelo Fair and Carnival association to secure $5,000 with which to finance the exposition next fall is busy among the business firms of that city. It is believed that the full amount needed will have been subscribed before June 1, the date set as conditional of the acceptance of the presidency by C. A. Broome.

One of the most serious accidents to occur in Abilene was when W. S. Harbin, repair man for the local street car system, fell in front of a moving street car and was killed. He was carrying not more than two feet and legs so badly crushed that amputation was necessary to save his life.

Mrs. Tex E. Armstrong of Dallas was selected president of the Dallas Equal Suffrage association Wednesday, May 24, at the final business meeting of the association for the season.

At the Asheville convention, T. C. Gardner of Marshall was elected secretary and treasurer of the Southern Baptist convention held at that city. He was also chairman of the program committee for another year.

Within a few days, Tyler should receive her two new fire-fighting machines. When these come Tyler will be better able than ever to handle fires which may occur.

Sen. Hustling Would Recommit River Bill

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 25.—Senator Hustling of Wisconsin, democrat, moved today that the $43,000,000 river and harbor appropriation bill be re-committed to the commerce committee with instructions to report a bill carrying not more than one-half the amount in the present measure. The motion will be voted on tomorrow.

All except one of various amendments offered during the day were defeated. Senator Shafer of Colorado offered an amendment providing that the locality to be benefited by any appropriation must contribute twenty per cent on the entire amount. It did not reach a vote.

They've got a right decent position, and Sam Martin wasn't as tight as a fiddlestring he'd give Betty a nice, substantial wedding present and say, 'God bless you, my children.'"

Miss Hannah wiped her eyes. "My heart aches for the poor dears. Dear knows Betty has been an angel to that old crank of a grandfather. There isn't another soul this side of heaven that would have kept house for him. I wouldn't do a million dollars, if he is my very own cousin."

So worked up was Miss Hannah that housecleaning had lost its charms. She walked the length of the attic once or twice, and finally in desperation took off her cap and apron and pulled down her sleeves. Then, descending to the

President Says Will Protect Cotton

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 25.—President Wilson today told Senator Sheppard and R. D. Bowers of Paris, Texas, representing the Farmers' union of that state, that the American government is doing everything possible to protect the rights of American growers of cotton and other commodities. The president referred to the peace treaty with Great Britain as necessitating thorough discussion of the matter.

Kentucky Feud Flashes Anew With a Battle

By the Associated Press.

Lexington, Ky., May 25.—The Kimbell-Lacey feud in Wayne county, which has been lying dormant for some time, broke out today and in a general battle June Kimbell was killed and Calvin and George Lacey badly wounded, according to word received here.

It was not reported how many took part in the battle.

Long in Charge Texas Cavalry.

By the Associated Press. San Antonio, May 25.—Captain John D. Long of the Third cavalry was placed in command of the squadron of Texas cavalry now encamped here, with the rank of major.

Captain Long was the first officer of the regular army to be given permission by the war department to accept a commission in the militia.

First floor, she went out and across the street where the enemy was working in a flower bed by the porch.

"Good morning, Sam!"

"Oh, it's you, Hannah! Betty's gone out."

"Yes, I saw her"—arms akimbo and eyes flashing—"and that's why I came. I want to have a good heart-to-heart talk with you. Spose you leave that spading and come and sit down a minute so's you can listen."

"I can hear. What do you want? Another old baby needin' help? Nope, not today."

"Just wait till you're asked before you refuse. If you're a buzzin' this minute with the wings of aid babies you ain't helped, that's sure! I came to see about Betty. She and Harley want to get married and there isn't a reason on this green earth why you should be so mean as not to let them. Why, Betty's been—"

The old man's eyes blazed and there he brought his fist down into his palm with a force that made Miss Hannah jump.

"You keep quiet, you meddler. It's my business and not yours. Betty's mother married a poor man and I had to keep him when he got sick, and her, too, and after they both died it was the girl. And now she wants to marry a pauper. I'll be the same thing over again! What do you think I am, an institution for the down and out?"

"Betty's made it up to you. She's worked and made you a good, comfortable home. She deserves something. Besides, Harley is strong and he isn't asking you to keep him or Betty either. She could still keep house for you if that's what you're afraid of. Remember, you are getting old, Sam, and you can't take your money with you when you die. Who are you going to leave it to?"

"Well, not to you anyway!" he snarled as he went into the house.

Miss Hannah went home crestfallen. She felt that she had only made matters worse for the two she had been so anxious to help. "The worst of Sam's meanness is," she reflected, "that he didn't make a cent of it himself. It was merely an accident of law that gave him that estate when there was no will, and I never could see why Brother Tom and I hadn't a right to some of it. Well, it's too late to mend things now, but I know what I'd do with money if I had it." She sighed. "This isn't gettin' the cleaning done, is it, sittin' here mourning for those two lambs? But the look in Betty's eyes just upset me so—there! I must finish scrubbing those window frames and get at those boxes."

Harley, having delivered a paper to a client, was on his way back to the once, and Betty, her errand finished, was on her way home when they met under a blossoming peach tree that spread over the fence of the Collins' yard. Not only had the young man's fancy lightly turned to thoughts of love, but every thought in his head, every wish of his heart, was for Betty, and when he saw her in her trim little blue dress and hat under the exquisite pink of the blossoms, such rapture and longing possessed him that it was all he could do to keep from taking her right into his arms out there on the street.

It was impossible to pass such a vision without stopping and whispering a word that brought the color flying to Betty's cheeks. "Oh, Harley," she protested, "you know we promised not-to-not-to—!" She faltered and her eyes filled.

"Well, I was a fool to promise anything so impossible, and I'm going right over and tell him so. This is a free country, and I guess I can talk to whomever I please!"

But it seemed he was to be spared the trouble of a trip in order to unburden himself to Betty's irate relative, for the old man, crossing the street to borrow a trowel from the Watsons looked their way and saw the lovers talking under the peach tree. Changing his course, he made straight in their direction.

Just then Miss Hannah, holding a yellow, much-creased paper in her trembling fingers and trying her best to convince herself that she was not dreaming, happened to look out of the window and saw exactly what was happening. Moreover, she divined what further was going to happen as soon as Cousin Sam reached the peach tree.

Without hesitating an instant, she ran downstairs and out of the front door, still holding the discolored bit of paper in her hand.

"Sam!" she called. "Sam, wait a minute!"

But Sam didn't hear; at least he did not halt.

"Sam!" she called again. And, so running and calling, she reached the peach tree at the same instant that Betty's grandfather stepped up and shook his fist under Harley's nose.

"Look here, Sam Martin!" she cried excitedly. "I found granddaddy's last will up in the old chest, and Tom and I have a right to two-thirds of your money. I'm going to give my share to these two lambs this minute, and there's going to be a wedding at my house about tomorrow or I miss my guess. There now. You just step along back home out of my way, will you? I've got some things to talk over with Harley and Betty before lunch!"

UGH! A DOSE OF NASTY CALOMEL

IT SALIVATES! IT MAKES YOU
SICK AND YOU MAY LOSE A DAY'S WORK.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

Maybe Flowers Inspired This

Charming selfishness was shown by a small girl who entered the office of the Waco Welfare league yesterday afternoon. She was a wee tot with big wistful blue eyes, and was accompanied by another little girl. She said that she had secured seventy-one names in contest for securing the most names of persons who will enter the flower-growing contest launched by the Welfare league. The other little girl had been less fortunate and had secured only two names.

The one with the big blue eyes asked officers of the league to give the less fortunate child the credit for seventy-one names which she herself had worked for in order that the other child might have an opportunity to get one of the prizes. Her request was granted and she left with most happy eyes—happy to think that she had done a good turn by her little friend.

A WACO INTERVIEW

Mrs. Battaille Tells Her Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a Waco woman three years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen:

Mrs. A. W. Battaille, 1704 Webster street, Waco, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are an old family medicine with us. I have never used them without getting prompt relief. I got them at Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store and can't praise them too highly." (Statement given December 9, 1911.)

On May 13, 1915, Mrs. Battaille said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills several times since, and they have always helped me."

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

SMITHVILLE SPRING DRIVE ENDS IN Y. M. B. L. VICTORY

selections and the excursionists passed out their souvenirs and renewed acquaintances with the local merchants.

EDDY LAST STOP IN HOME COUNTY.

Progress is evident on every hand at Eddy, the last McLennan county stop. Incidentally, Eddy is what you might call a divided house. On one side of the track, it is in Falls county, on the other in McLennan, while the Bell county line is in the outskirts of town. Eddy now has a moving picture show, and Clyde Essex, editor of the Eddy Journal, who owns the movie, is also putting in a steam laundry. Essex also has some handsome Spitz dogs as can be found anywhere. Eddy welcomed the trippers cordially.

MODERN TROY PRETTY LITTLE TOWN.

Ancient Troy was renowned mostly for the heroic Helen, but the modern Troy will give its namesake a close race for natural beauty. Troy is up to date, has a live weekly paper, the Troy Enterprise, edited by W. W. Edliver, fine business buildings and well kept residences. The Katy section house bears the proud sign, in gold letters, "Prize section for greatest improvement." A concert was given in Troy and more souvenirs distributed.

TRIPPERS INVADE TEMPLE IN FORCE.

The longest stop of the morning was made at Temple, where the Waco bunch got off in full force and led by the band, paraded down to the business section. By twos, the line was several blocks long, and a good impression was made. P. L. Downs, one of Temple's leading citizens, was among those meeting the crowd at the depot, and he marched down the street with the visitors.

There was no formality about the visit to Temple. Most of the Wacoans were already acquainted with the people they wanted to see and made the most of the time. Temple is flourishing and is one of the best little cities of its size in the state. Andrew McLeath, editorial writer on the Temple Telegram, went out of his way to make things pleasant to the visiting newspapermen.

LITTLE RIVER AND SPARKS VISITED.

Band concerts were given and the merchants visited at Little River and Sparks, five minutes being spent at each place. Crops continued to look good, all along the way, and the merchants and farmers alike are jubilant over the prospects.

HEARTY GREETING GIVEN AT HOLLAND.

In years past Holland has given the Waco boosters a hearty welcome, and this year was no exception to the rule. By the time the train had stopped, every merchant was at his depot, on the sidewalk or in his door, and a session of handshaking and renewing old acquaintances followed. Holland has always been noted for its pretty girls, and still is, many souvenirs finding their way into willing hands.

There are two newspapers in Holland, the News and the Progress. Richard Ginty, assistant editor of the News, is one of the youngest men, for his years, in Texas. With a straight face he announced yesterday that he wasn't looking for ads. "It takes so much space for the news," he said, "that we don't have much room for ads. I've about quit soliciting business," he continued. His paper, however, is a bright little sheet and the merchants have evidently been pleading with the son of the Emerald Isle, for their wares are freely advertised. J. E. Ervin is editor of the Progress, which is a new venture for him, but he is a wide-awake young man with good prospects of success.

BARTLETT RESPONDS TO SPIRIT OF VISIT.

Citizens of Bartlett acted surprised when the trade trippers came trooping into view, the Baylor band leading them, but at once made every effort to make the short stay successful. Bartlett is another town in two counties, Bell and Robertson, one half being dry, the other wet territory. The Bartlett Tribune and News is the only newspaper, but it is a good one with a live wire for an editor.

GRANGER LOOKING FORWARD TO GOOD SEASON.

Everybody is optimistic in Granger over crop conditions. The Baylor band's concert was enthusiastically received and a hearty welcome given the trippers. Granger is prosperous and doesn't care who knows it. R. A. Alfred, editor of the Granger News, is a real live wire and is setting out a newspaper that would be a credit to a much larger town.

TAYLOR AND DINNER MEAN THE SAME THING.

Heavy clouds overhung the sky when the train left Waco, but long before noon the sun was beating down and it was a hot, tired and hungry bunch that swung off at Taylor for the welcome call of dinner. There was no trouble in getting everybody in the parade after it was announced that the band would lead the way to the eat. The meal was served by a few ladies with negro assistants, chicken pie being the piece de resistance.

Taylor is very much alive. It has many handsome buildings, hundreds of ambitious and progressive business men and three newspapers. The Daily Press, an afternoon publication, was serenaded by the Baylor band and its editorial force had a warm greeting for the Waco newspapermen. Taylor is in the heart of one of the richest oil belts in the nation and has been growing rapidly for several years.

While the Wacoans were eating dinner, Mayor Heide made a short address of welcome to which J. M. Penland, president of the Waco Chamber of Commerce, responded. Both stressed the close business relations that exist between the two cities. The official photograph was taken in F. C. Gilder's just before the afternoon start was made.

MOST OF COUPLAND CITIZENS AT TRAIN.

The first afternoon stop was at Coupland, where almost all the citizens were on hand with a warm welcome. Many of the merchants simply let their stores run themselves while they mingled with the visitors from Waco. Joe R. Morgan, Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store; H. R. Halbert, Waco Storage Battery Co.; B. R. McConnell, Southern Welding Co.; G. C. Slaughter, Hotel Waco; Fred Hoffner, J. C. Kilgore & Co.; Clyde McCartney, Pierce-Fordyce oil association; J. H. Megarity, manager Swift & Co.; T. W. Miller, manager Graham National Co.; Lee H. Richards, Amicable Life Insurance Co.; Ed Wilder, painting and decorating contractor; Sam Knight, Toby's Business college; John Wyche, Wyche Optical Co.; Perry A. Dunbar, president Y. M. B. Wolfe, the Florist; Fred A. Mailan-

ELGIN ALSO IN FLOURISHING LIST.

Several of the younger members of the party had a pleasing diversion at Elgin, a bevy of pretty girls taking them for rides in the Elgin car. The Elgin played and the Waco business men hurried over town, seeing their customers and trying to make new ones.

Elgin is flourishing. Prospects are good for fine crops. The Elgin is quite a manufacturing center, and all lines of business are making money. J. O. Smith is the editor of the Elgin courier, the only newspaper, and he has a neat, up-to-date plant, housed in an attractive brick building.

Heavily timbered country, dotted with many lignite mines, was passed through between Elgin and Bastrop, and the band played a selection at Phelan.

BASTROP WINS HOME IN HEART OF WACOANS.

"Wait until we get to Bastrop" was heard frequently on the train during the day, for the whole-souled reception accorded two years ago had not been forgotten. Bastrop lived heart to all expectations. Enough autos were at the depot to take all the visitors down town, where the good people, both men and women, young and old, were in the main, waiting for the home John B. McNamara made a short talk for the Y. M. B. L. thank-

If Too Fat Get More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND
REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE OIL OF KOREAN.

Lack of fresh air and lack of exercise, the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a question and even a few days' treatment around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from Morrison's Drug Store or any druggist a box of oil of korean capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korean is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

ing the city for its elegant hospitality, and the band played a number of selections.

At many points along the way newspaper men said that they had not received notice of the trade trip in time to print it in last week's papers. At Bastrop no notice had gotten in the papers and one of the merchants said that the only word received had been at 10 o'clock yesterday morning that some kind of a special train was coming from Waco. That was sufficient for Bastrop.

Bastrop is one of the oldest towns in Texas, past its flows the silvery Colorado, back of it are extensive pine woods, lignite is mined, and short distance from town and evidences of oil and gas have been discovered in several directions. Bastrop's crowning distinction, however, is its southern hospitality, which is as genuine as can be found any place south of Mason and Dixon's line, or in other words, in the entire world.

FARM PRODUCTS FROM HILL'S PRAIRIE.

One of the real surprises of the trip came at Hill's Prairie, a point where no reception at all was expected. Several of the citizens from the surrounding country were down at the depot, which comprises the town, and T. K. Moore, one of the prosperous farmers, presented the excursionists with a "bouquet" consisting of corn, millet, maize, oats, cauliflower, onions, beets, tomatoes and squash, showing an advanced stage of development.

"Crop prospects were never better," said Mr. Moore, "and the samples I brought down show just about the stage the crop is in now." Good luck from now on ought to bring a record-breaking harvest at Hill's Prairie, judging from the samples.

A short stop was also made at Upton, where a few souvenirs were distributed while the band played. Then came Smithville, supper and the return to Waco.

Following is the personnel of the party:

H. McCullough, Central Texas Exchange National bank; H. A. Linkle, Dr. Pepper Co.; D. Y. Craddock, Dr. Pepper Co.; William Duncan, Waco Mill & Elevator Co.; H. P. Powers, Kelly Drug Co.; L. G. ### Hairs Quickly Vanish After this Treatment

(Helps to Beauty)
Science has aided in simplifying the banishing of hairy growths from the face, and according to a beauty specialist, the most effective treatment yet devised consists of applying a delicate paste to the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. When this paste is removed and the skin washed every trace of hair has vanished. Be sure to get real delatone.

Bohemian Sokols in Meeting Declare Their Patriotic Devotion

The Bohemian Sokols met last night at the Tietz hotel, accompanied by the ladies' auxiliary. Frank Rendle of Dallas, state organizer and instructor, spoke to the Sokols, outlining the work that is being done in the state and the progress that is being made. A resolution was passed for the support of the organization.

The report of the meeting given out stated that "there were no hyphenated Americans in the meeting as they are all American Bohemians and stand for Uncle Sam first, last and all the time."

Mr. Rendle leaves today for Houston, Granger, Galveston and other points in the state.

It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

Maybe Flowers Inspired This

Charming unselfishness was shown by a small girl who entered the office of the Waco Welfare league yesterday afternoon. She was a wee tot with big wistful blue eyes, and was accompanied by another little girl. She said that she had secured seventy-one names in contest for securing the most names of persons who will enter the flower-growing contest, launched by the Welfare league. The other little girl had been less fortunate and had secured only two names.

The one with the big blue eyes asked officers of the league to give the less fortunate child the credit for seventy-one names which she herself had worked for in order that the other child might have an opportunity to get one of the prizes. Her request was granted and she left with most happy eyes—happy to think that she had done a good turn by her little friend.

A WACO INTERVIEW

Mrs. Battelle Tells Her Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a Waco woman three years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen:

Mrs. A. W. Battelle, 1704 Webster street, Waco, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are an old family medicine with us. I have never used them without getting prompt relief. I got them at Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store and can't praise them too highly." (Statement given December 3, 1911.)

On May 13, 1915, Mrs. Battelle said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills several times since, when I have need of a kidney tonic, and they have always helped me."

"Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Battelle has twice recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y."

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription see that even strength is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

SMITHVILLE SPRING DRIVE ENDS IN Y. M. B. L. VICTORY

selections and the excursionists passed out their souvenirs and renewed acquaintances with the local merchants.

EDDY LAST STOP IN HOME COUNTY.

Progress is evident on every hand at Eddy, the last McLennan county stop. Incidentally, Eddy is what you might call a divided house. On one side of the track, it is in Falls county, on the other in McLennan, while the Bell county line is in the outskirts of town.

Eddy now has a moving picture show, and Clyde Essex, editor of the Eddy Journal, who owns the movie, is also putting in a steam laundry. Essex also has some handsome Spitz dogs as can be found anywhere. Eddy welcomed the trippers cordially.

MODERN TROY PRETTY LITTLE TOWN.

Ancient Troy was renowned mostly for the heroic Helen, but the modern Troy will give its namesake a close race for natural beauty. Troy is up to date, has a live weekly paper, the Troy Enterprise, edited by W. W. Bolliver, fine business buildings and well kept residences. The Katy section house bears the proud sign, in gold letters, "Prize section for greatest improvement." A concert was given in Troy and more souvenirs distributed.

TRIPPERS INVADE TEMPLE IN FORCE.

The longest stop of the morning was made at Temple, where the Waco bunch got off in full force and, led by the band, paraded down to the business section. By twos, the line was several blocks long, and a good impression was made. P. L. Downs, one of Temple's leading citizens, was among those meeting the crowd at the depot, and he marched down the street with the visitors.

There was no formality about the visit to Temple. Most of the Wacoans were already acquainted with the people they wanted to see and made the most of the time. Temple is flourishing and is one of the best little cities in its size in the state. Andrew McLeath, editorial writer on the Temple Telegram, went out of his way to make things pleasant to the visiting newspapermen.

LITTLE RIVER AND SPARKS VISITED.

Band concerts were given and the merchants visited at Little River and Sparks. Five minutes being spent at each place. Crops continued to look good, all along the way, and the merchants and farmers alike are jubilant over the prospects.

HEARTY GREETING GIVEN AT HOLLAND.

In years past Holland has given the Waco boosters a hearty welcome, and this year was no exception to the rule. By the time the train had stopped, every merchant was at the depot, on the sidewalk or in his door, and a session of handshaking and renewing old acquaintances followed. Holland has always been noted for its pretty girls, and still is, many souvenirs finding their way into willing hands.

There are two newspapers in Holland, the News and the Progress. Richard G. Gandy, assistant editor of the News, is one of the youngest men, for his years, in Texas. With a straight face he announced yesterday that he wasn't looking for ads. "It takes so much space for the news," he said, "that we don't have much room for ads. I've about quit soliciting business," he continued. His paper, however, is a bright little sheet and the merchants have evidently been pleading with the son of the Emerald Isle, for their wares are freely advertised. J. E. Ervin is editor of the Progress, which is a new venture for him, but he is a wide-awake young man with good prospects of success.

BARTLETT RESPONDS TO SPIRIT OF VISIT.

Citizens of Bartlett acted surprised when the trade trippers came trooping into view, the Baylor band leading them, but at once made every effort to make the short stay successful. Bartlett is another town in two counties, Bell and Robertson, one half being dry, the other wet territory. The Bartlett Tribune and News is the only newspaper, but it is a good one with a live wire for an editor.

GRANGER LOOKING FORWARD TO GOOD SEASON.

Everybody is optimistic in Granger over crop conditions. The Baylor band's concert was enthusiastically received and a hearty welcome given the trippers. Granger is prosperous and doesn't care who knows it. R. A. Alford, editor of the Granger News, is a real live wire and is getting out a newspaper that would be a credit to a much larger town.

TAYLOR AND DINNER MEAN THE SAME THING.

Heavy clouds overhung the sky when the train left Waco, but long before noon the sun was beating down and it was a hot, tired and hungry bunch that swung off at Taylor for the welcome call of dinner. There was no trouble in getting everybody in the parade after it was announced that the band would lead the way to the eats. The meal was served by a few ladies with negro assistants, chicken pie being the piece de resistance.

Taylor is very much alive. It has many handsome buildings, hundreds of ambitious and progressive business men and three newspapers. The Daily Press, an afternoon publication, was serenaded by the Baylor band and the editorial force had a warm greeting for the Waco newspaper men. Taylor is in the heart of one of the richest oil belts in the nation and has been growing rapidly for several years.

While the Wacoans were eating dinner, Mayor Heide made a short address of welcome to which J. M. Penland, president of the Waco Chamber of Commerce, responded. Both stressed the close business relations that exist between the two cities. The official photograph was taken by F. A. Gildersleeve just before the afternoon start was made.

MOST OF COUPLAND CITIZENS AT TRAIN.

The first afternoon stop was at Coupland, where almost all the citizens were on hand with a warm welcome. Many of the merchants simply let their stores run themselves while they mingled with the visitors from Waco. In the outskirts of the town were numerous beehives and lazy, sleek, well-fed cows, meditatively chewing their ends indicate that Coupland is, indeed, in a land "flowing with milk and honey."

ELGIN ALSO IN FLOURISHING LIST.

Several of the younger members of the party had a pleasing diversion at Elgin, a bevy of pretty girls taking them for a short auto ride. The band played and the Waco business men hurried over town, seeing their customers and trying to make new ones.

Elgin is flourishing. Prospects are good for fine melon and truck crops. Elgin is culturally advanced, and all lines of business are making money. J. O. Smith is the editor of the Elgin Courier, the only newspaper, and he has a neat, up-to-date building, housed in an attractive brick building.

Heavily timbered country, dotted with many lignite mines, was passed through between Elgin and Bastrop, and the band played a selection at Phelan.

BASTROP WINS HOME IN HEART OF WACOANS.

"Wait until we get to Bastrop!" was heard frequently on the train during the day, for the whole-souled reception accorded two years ago had not been forgotten. And Bastrop lived up to all expectations. Enough autos came to the depot to take all the visitors down the street, where the good people, both men and women, young and old, joined in making everybody feel at home. John B. McNamara made a short talk for the Y. M. B. L., thanking

If Too Fat Get

More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND
REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air it is said weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and many of the ailments of civilization are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed. Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from Morrison's Drug Store or any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

ing the city for its elegant hospitality, and the band played a number of selections.

At many points along the way newspaper men said that they had not received notice of the trade trip in time to print it in last week's papers. At Bastrop no notice had gotten in the papers and one of the merchants said that the only word received had been at 10 o'clock yesterday morning that some kind of a special train was coming from Waco. That was sufficient for Bastrop.

Bastrop is one of the oldest towns in Texas, past its flows the silvery Colorado, back of it are extensive pine woods, lignite is mined a short distance from town and evidences of oil and gas have been discovered in several directions. Bastrop's crowning distinction, however, is its southern hospitality, which is as genuine as can be found in any place south of Mason and Dixon's line, in other words, in the entire world.

FARM PRODUCTS FROM HILL'S PRAIRIE.

One of the real surprises of the trip came at Hill's Prairie, a point where no reception at all was expected. Several of the citizens from the surrounding country were down at the depot, which comprises the town, and T. K. Moore, & Elevator Co., H. Peterson, presented the excursionists with a "bouquet," consisting of corn, milo, maize, oats, cauliflower, onions, beets, tomatoes and squash, showing an advanced stage of development.

"Crop prospects were never better," said Mr. Moore, "and the samples I brought down show just about the stage the crop is now in." Good luck from now on ought to bring a record-breaking harvest to Hill's Prairie, judging from the samples.

A short stop was also made at Upton, where a few souvenirs were distributed while the band played. Then came Smithville, supper and the return to Waco.

Hairs Quickly Vanish After this Treatment

(Helps to Beauty)

Science has aided in simplifying the banishing of hairy growths from the face, and according to a beauty specialist, the most effective treatment yet devised consists of applying a delicate paste to the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. When this paste is removed and the skin washed every trace of hair has vanished. Be sure to get real delatone.

Bohemian Sokols in Meeting Declare Their Patriotic Devotion

The Bohemian Sokols met last night at the Tietz hotel, accompanied by the auxiliary, Frank Rendle of Dallas, state organizer and instructor, spoke to the Sokols, outlining the work that is being done in the state and the progress that is being made. A resolution was passed for the support of the organization.

The report of the meeting given out stated that there were no hyphenated Americans in the meeting; as they are all American Bohemians and stand for Uncle Sam first, last and all the time.

Mr. Rendle leaves today for Houston, Granger, Galveston and other points in the state.

Speakers' Club Orators Against Gibson Bill Win Decision

The Waco Speakers' club's weekly debate last night at the Chamber of Commerce offices was won by the negative team, composed of W. R. Anderson and J. W. Walker. The question for debate was "Resolved, that the Gibson bill should be passed by our state legislature." The affirmative team was C. H. Babb and T. E. Leach. J. W. Walker received honorable mention by the judges for his address. The judges were J. B. Gean, Cecil McGuffin and J. N. Gaunt. A telegram was received by members of the club from F. S. Marrs, secretary of the club, who accompanied the Y. M. B. L. trade tourists.

The question for debate next Thursday night has been announced as follows: "Resolved, that the federal authorities should not force members of the state militia to join the regular army." The affirmative will be C. A. Allen and W. Roy Christian, and will be opposed by Frank Fitzpatrick and J. N. Gaunt. The orator for the evening will be J. B. Gean.

DR. BARTON DECLARES PROS AND MORALS OF BIG CONVENTION

Dr. A. J. Barton, on his return from the San Antonio convention yesterday, gave out the following:

"We are neither discouraged by the results nor surprised at the high-handed, blood-raw methods used to accomplish them. The liquor machine won a technical victory, but the moral victory was won by the forces of good government. The apparent victory of the liquor people will react against them with terrible certainty and swiftness. This is only one sharp battle in a war which will emancipate Texas from liquor domination and Mexican control. The partisan and unfair rulings of the chairman and the rank, rough-house methods pursued by the brewery forces will make multiplied thousands of votes for statewide prohibition and will hasten the day when Texas shall be free."

"The liquor machine knew that it was the death struggle, and hence their methods. They acknowledged their defeat in seeking and finding two pros who were willing to stand as the candidates of the liquor party. Even with this and with the forced combination of alien factions, their majority in every test vote was narrow. In the Love-Pointedexter contest, if indeed they do not accomplish its defeat, but what do these gentlemen care?"

"The parsimonious and niggardly endorsement doled out to President Wilson and his administration by this combination demonstrated more clearly than words could do what every informed person already knew—that the liquor politicians in Texas, Wilson's enemies. The anti-woman suffrage and the anti-prohibition resolutions adopted will cost the national democratic ticket many thousands of votes in the impending campaign. If indeed they do not accomplish its defeat, but what do these gentlemen care?"

"The issue is more clearly defined and the lines more tightly drawn than ever. We know better now than ever before who are the friends of the home and who are the friends of the saloon. The fight for clean politics, good government, an honest ballot and a decent Texas will be pressed with increased energy, determination and enthusiasm until every saloon door in Texas and in the United States is closed."

Miss Mayo's Recital at Baylor Is Well Received

Ford Wants Stamp to Resign And Fight Issue by Ballots

Challenging Commissioner Fred Stamp to resign and fight the issues involved before the public, former Street Foreman Dan Ford has issued the following open letter: Waco, Texas, May 23, 1916. Mr. Fred Stamp, Street Commissioner, Waco, Texas.

Dear Sir: I suggest that you resign as street commissioner and we submit our names to the people as candidates for that position.

My reasons for making these suggestions are as follows: In three separate communications to the city commissioners you have charged that I was guilty of improper conduct, and that I had misled the board of commissioners, and that I had misused the seal and signature of certain union councils. All of these charges are wholly false, and you knew they were false when you made them. You were dissatisfied with your first communication and therefore submitted a second communication, which, in addition to the above charges, also charged me with insubordination. I do not know just what you mean by this expression, but I presume it refers to an incident wherein I freely expressed myself with reference to your conduct. I must admit that I did criticize you severely and I think, justly, and if this government has become a monarchy and the people are not permitted to criticize the officers, then I must admit that I am guilty of insubordination. But if you mean to imply that I am guilty of misconduct, then I reply that your charge is false. In your third communication, in addition to the foregoing charges which you repeated, you charged that I had used some man in the service of the city for my private purposes. This is false, and you knew it was false at the time you made the statement.

Being your action on the foregoing charges, you suspended me indefinitely as street foreman. Your real cause for suspending me as street foreman was not for any of the reasons aforesaid, but I charge that you are a tool of certain members of certain labor councils, and they demanded that you discharge me and you did not have the moral courage to refuse their demand. The reason some union men have been dissatisfied with my services as street foreman was because I had refused to let incompetent and helpless men, who were unable to do a day's work, although they belonged to the union, draw pay from the city's treasury. I have also refused to let workmen, who were unable to do a day's work, draw pay for what they were unable to do. While street foreman I have always demanded that the men and the team must do a day's work and it was immaterial to me whether the man belonged to the union or not. I have a preference to union labor, and would continue to do so were I street foreman at this time, but I would not permit the money of the city to be squandered as an accommodation to labor council, who in many respects do not reflect the sentiment of the members of the various labor organizations.

In your communication you state that I misled the commissioners and induced them to believe that I had been endorsed by the labor councils. I presume you speak for yourself with reference to this matter. If you acknowledge that you were misled, then you must admit that you appointed me originally not because you thought I was competent for the position, but because you thought the labor union had endorsed me. If this is true, in my judgment you are unfit to serve the city as street commissioner. You should exercise your judgment in making appointments and not be controlled by the labor council, even though you have made many indiscriminate promises prior to the election.

After suspending me as street foreman, I demanded a trial, and as one of the commissioners, you agreed to give me a trial. I desired vindication and reinstatement to the position of street foreman. I appeared with my attorneys for trial, and the board assembled for that purpose. By preconcerted action among the commissioners, Mr. Harlow made a motion to abolish the office, and you voted for the motion, and the office was abolished. This ended the trial. In the event of my vindication I should have been reinstated; but by your action in abolishing the office, my reinstatement was made impossible. Hence, I stand suspended, charged by you with official misconduct, and have been deprived of an opportunity to be reinstated. You were the prime mover in this matter and are therefore primarily responsible to the people.

You have done me a great injustice. You have injured the cause of labor. You have brought your city into disrespect. I therefore suggest that you lay down your commission which the people gave you, and meet me in a contest for this office, and we will let the people name your successor. Yours very truly, DAN FORD.

P. S. I note that you have appointed my successor to do the work I did as street foreman. I understand that you now call him by a different name, that is, you call him time-keeper.

Rev. Munger Talks to Working Boys

Rev. H. C. Munger addressed seventy boys at the weekly meeting of the Working Boys' club at the old Presbyterian church last night. He spoke to the boys on the subject of their wishes versus their exertions, telling them not to wish for a thing too much but to buckle down and work for it.

Oscar Adwan was chosen manager of the two baseball teams that the boys voted to form. One will be for the young boys and the other will be for the older ones. The leaders of the team for the younger boys are Alston Holly and Willis Threadgold; for the older team, James Stockett and Barney Salter.

Misses Korean Vuhitus and Willie Rayburn played a piano duo and Mrs. Munger rendered a vocal solo.

Raleigh Will Start Laundry Today-Friday

That fellow Fellows who runs the Raleigh doesn't give a d—m for superstitions!

He opened the hotel on unlucky Friday, started the lunch room on ill-fated Friday, invited the public first into his dining room on inauspicious Friday, and now he has the temerity to starch a few boiler-plate shirt bosoms in the nearly-completed laundry this ill-starred day just because it's Friday—Fellow's lucky day. When ever he doesn't start something on Friday, he lies awake until 12:01 of Saturday nights planning some new Raleigh feature for the next seventh day.

Mr. Fellows took an unsightly two-story brick just in the rear of the hotel, which had been hashed up when the ten-story structure was built and which has since been at least only available for them. He has made the front into a red stucco effect, cemented the floors, semi-free proofed the inside, made white sanitary offices and then filled the thing full of improved laundry machinery—having first installed some large flower boxes in the front windows.

Fellows says that a fellow can have his soiled collar all doped up while he eats his dessert through this new arrangement.

Commercial Bodies for Preparedness

By the Associated Press. Washington, May 25.—Advanced preparedness steps including universal military training, a building program that would restore the nation to second place among the world's naval and air powers and an army increase that would meet the recommendations of the general staff have been endorsed by overwhelming majorities in a referendum just completed among commercial organizations throughout the country.

The referendum which officials of the chamber declared tonight had furnished the first authoritative index for the evening of past friendships from business men brought out the largest vote yet recorded in the series of canvasses made by the organization on public questions.

Bodies in forty-three states and in Alaska, the Philippines and Hawaii participated. In the broad question of "general preparedness," 970 organizations voted favorably and only eight negatively. The vote for universal military training was 889 to 56.

The navy increases proposed in the query submitted were indorsed 952 to 10 and the army increases 946 to 21.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

Only one marriage license was issued yesterday, that of J. L. Weir and Miss Etta Futch.

Five recruits for the United States army left yesterday for Fort Logan, Colo., over the Katy railroad. This makes thirteen sent out this far this month, with others to go next Monday.

B. C. Cooper, charged with boot legging, had a preliminary hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner A. P. McCormick. He was held in a bond of $300 to await the action of the federal grand jury.

While the weather continued warm yesterday, the clouds mitigated conditions somewhat. There was a fine breeze all day, too. The temperature took many to the place where cold drinks are dispensed and this line of business is beginning to pick up right along.

The weights and measures ordinance did not get before the city commission yesterday as had been expected, but it is thought that it will come up at the next session of that body. The commission has prepared to make the ordinance effective when it is passed, and it is claimed it will be an economic saving for the city.

The trade trippers came back from Smithville, more firmly convinced than ever of the pleasure and profit to all concerned by the staging of these annual affairs. The acquaintances formed and the renewing of past friendships form a combination which begets good to all concerned, in the opinion of the participants in the trips.

Among the enthusiastic boosters on the trade trip to Smithville yesterday was Superintendent J. W. Evans of the Katy and George Wiebusch Jr., the latter representing the Katy Employees' association. It is the purpose of the Katy railroad to send a representative on each of the excursions, which will be appreciated by those heading this movement.

There will be a box supper Saturday night, May 27, at Speegleville, at the school auditorium, given by the Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church. The occasion is expected to prove unusually pleasant.

The chief address will be by Hon. Tom Connolly, but other candidates for congress will be given a chance to make their announcements. It is understood that a number of persons from Waco will attend.

A significant suggestion is contained in just seven words which are displayed prominently in the street cars of Waco. The words are: "The chance taker is the accident maker." The phrase is one which rhymes, but there is more truth than poetry in the sententious statement. It is just a little filtration of the safety-first propaganda which is being used the country over and ought to have a good effect on the fellow who is ready to take chances himself and often to involve others through his carelessness or recklessness.

Dr. Rousseau is a speaker to whom may be applied considerable more than the proverbial "worth while hearing." He is a gentleman of fine natural ability and splendid educational attainments. His sermon in our pulpit a few weeks ago captivated the congregation, and we welcome the opportunity to hear him again. The services will be conducted by Rabbi Waraw and the liturgical music will be rendered by the Temple quartet. Services begin at 8 o'clock. The Saturday morning service at 10:30. The weekly portion of the Bible will be explained by the rabbi. The confirmation class will meet at the Temple vestry on Saturday at 4 p. m.

The religious school meets on Sunday morning at 10. A full attendance is desired, as at this hour the school will rehearse its part in the confirmation exercises.

Cottolene

"The Natural Shortening"

Make your next shortcake this way

Into two cups of sifted pastry flour sift and mix one level teaspoon of salt and four level teaspoons baking powder; chop in two level teaspoons chilled Cottolene, and add one egg. Wet to a stiff dough with about three-fourths cup of milk, or half water and half milk. Toss out on floured board, roll one-half inch thick, cut into rounds, and bake in hot oven.

When baked, pull the biscuits apart and spread with butter. Put mashed and sweetened berries or other fruit between crusts and over the whole.

Cottolene will improve the delicious quality of your shortcake, just as it improves the flavor, appearance and wholesomeness of all other kinds of foods that are shortened or fried in it.

Use Cottolene for all shortening, and for frying doughnuts, croquettes, chicken, fish, etc.

Cottolene is put up in pails of different sizes, to suit your convenience. Its use is simple, and always gratifying. Ask your grocer for a regular supply. Do it today.

Speakers' Club Orators Against Gibson Bill Win Decision

The Waco Speakers' club's weekly debate last night at the Chamber of Commerce offices was won by the negative team, composed of W. R. Anderson and J. W. Walker. The question for debate was "Resolved, that the Gibson bill should be passed by our state legislature." The affirmative team was C. H. Babb and T. E. Leach. J. W. Walker received honorable mention by the judges for his address. The judges were J. B. Gean, Cecil McGuffin and J. N. Gaunt. A telegram was received by members of the club from F. S. Marrs, secretary of the club, who accompanied the Y. M. B. L. trade tourists.

The question for debate next Thursday night has been announced as follows: "Resolved, that the federal authorities should not force members of the state militia to join the regular army." The affirmative will be C. A. Allen and W. Roy Christian, and will be opposed by Frank Fitzpatrick and J. N. Gaunt. The orator for the evening will be J. B. Gean.

DR. BARTON DECLARES PROSWON MORAL END OF BIG CONVENTION

Dr. A. J. Barton, on his return from the San Antonio convention yesterday, gave out the following:

"We are neither discouraged by the results nor surprised at the high-handed, blood-ravaging methods used to accomplish them. The liquor machine won a technical victory, but the moral victory was won by the forces of good government. The apparent victory of the liquor people will react against them with terrible certainty and swiftness. This is only one sharp battle in a war which will emancipate Texas from liquor domination and Mexican control. The partisan and unfair rulings of the chairman and the rank, rough-house methods pursued by the brewers forces will make multiplied thousands of votes for statewide prohibition and will hasten the day when Texas shall be free."

"The liquor machine knew that it was the death struggle, and hence their methods. They acknowledged their defeat in seeking and finding two pros who were willing to stand as the candidates of the liquor party. Even the adoption of the prohibition resolution and the forced combination of alien factions, their majority in every test vote was narrow. In the Love-Poindexter contest there is no doubt that Love was elected by the arbitrary depriving of his victory."

"The parsimonious and big game endorsement doled out to President Wilson and his administration by this combination demonstrated more clearly than words could say what every informed person already knew—that the liquor politicians in Texas are Wilson's enemies. The anti-woman suffrage and the anti-prohibition resolutions adopted will cost the national democratic ticket many thousands of votes in the impending campaign, if indeed they do not accomplish its defeat, but what do these gentlemen care?"

"The issue is more clearly defined and the lines more tightly drawn than ever. We know better now than ever before who are the friends of the home and who are the friends of the saloon. The fight for clean politics, good government, an honest ballot and a reformed Texas will be pressed with increased energy, determination and enthusiasm until every saloon door in Texas and in the United States is closed."

Ford Wants Stamp to Resign And Fight Issue by Ballots

Challenging Commissioner Fred Stamp to resign and fight the issues involved before the public, former Street Foreman Dan Ford has issued the following open letter:

Waco, Texas, May 23, 1916.
Mr. Fred Stamp,
Street Commissioner,
Waco, Texas.

Dear Sir:

I suggest that you resign as street commissioner and we submit our names to the people as candidates for that position.

My reasons for making these suggestions are as follows:

In three separate communications to the city commissioners you have charged that I was guilty of improper conduct, and that I had misled the board of commissioners, and that I had misused the seal and signature of certain union councils. All of these charges are wholly false, and you knew they were false when you made them. You were dissatisfied with your first communication and therefore submitted a second communication, which, in addition to the above charges, also charged me with insubordination. I do not know just what you mean by this expression, but presume you mean to refer to an incident wherein I freely expressed myself with reference to your conduct. I must admit that I did criticize you severely and I think, justly, and if this government has become a monarchy and the people are not permitted to criticize the officers, then I must admit that I am guilty of insubordination. But if you mean to imply that I am guilty of misconduct, then I reply that your charge is false. In your third communication, in addition to the foregoing charges, which you repeated, you also charged that I had used some man in the service of the city for my private purposes. This is false, and you knew it was false at the time you made the statement.

Basing your action on the foregoing charges, you suspended me indefinitely as street foreman.

Your real cause for suspending me as street foreman was not for any of the reasons aforesaid, but I charge that you are a tool of certain members of certain labor councils, and they demanded that you discharge me and you did not have the moral courage to refuse their demand.

The reason some union men have been dissatisfied with my services as street foreman was because I had refused to let incompetent and helpless men, who were unable to do a day's work, although they belonged to the union, draw pay from the city's treasury. I have also refused to let worn-out teams, although they were owned by union men, work on the city streets and draw pay for what they were unable to do. While street foreman I have always demanded that the men on the team must do a day's work, and it was immaterial to me whether the man belonged to the union or not. I always gave a preference to union labor, and would continue to do so were I street foreman at this time, but I would not permit the money of the city to be squandered as an accommodation to a labor council, who in my respects do not reflect the sentiment of the members of the various labor organizations.

In your communication you state that I misled the commissioners and induced them to believe that I had been endorsed by the labor councils. I presume you speak for yourself with reference to this matter. If you acknowledge that you were misled, then you must admit that you appointed me originally not because you thought I was competent for the position, but because you thought the labor union had endorsed me. If this is true, in my judgment you are unfit to serve the city as street commissioner. You should exercise your judgment in making appointments and not be controlled by a labor council, even though you have made many indiscriminate promises prior to the election.

After suspending me as street foreman, I demanded a trial, and, as one of the commissioners, you agreed to give me a trial. I desired vindication and reinstatement to the position of street foreman. I appeared with my attorneys for trial, and the mayor announced that the board had assembled for that purpose. By preconcerted action among the commissioners, Mr. Harlow made a motion to abolish the office, and you voted for the motion, and the office was abolished. This I consider a vindication of my position; but by your action in abolishing the office, my reinstatement was made impossible. Hence, I stand suspended, charged by you with official misconduct, and have been deprived of an opportunity to be reinstated to the office which you have abolished. You were the prime mover in this matter and are therefore primarily responsible to the people.

You have done me a great injustice. You have injured the cause of labor. You have brought your city into disrepute.

I therefore suggest that you lay down your commission which the people gave you, and meet me in a contest for this office, and we will let the people name your successor.

Yours very truly,
DAN FORD.

P. S. I note that you have appointed my successor to do the work I did refuse to do. I understand that you now call him time-keeper, that is, you call him time-keeper.

Well Known Remedy Relieves Chronic Case

IMPORTANT TO DISPOSE OF
WASTE FROM THE STOMACH
WITH REGULARITY.

People frequently attribute to failure of the digestive organs conditions that are primarily due to inactive bowels, and apply remedies that are more apt to aggravate than to relieve the disorder.

When the bowels act regularly the stomach is in better shape to perform its allotted tasks and can usually be depended upon. To keep the bowels in condition there is no more effective remedy than the combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is sold in drug stores for 50c a bottle.

Dr. Caldwell has prescribed this remedy in his practice for over a quarter of a century and it is today the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. Thomas DeLoach, with the department of the interior, office of Indian affairs, at Washington, wrote Dr. Caldwell recently that "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best laxative I have any knowledge of and the cleaning up guaranteed by its use relieves every organ."

MR. THOS. DELOACH.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be on hand in every home for use when needed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. R. Caldwell, 454 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill.

CONTRACT PROPOSED FOR WHITE WAY IS NOT FAIR--MAYOR

"The present contract for a white way for Austin street will not be signed," said Mayor John Dollins last night, "because it is only to the interest of the Northern Texas Traction company and not to the interest of the citizens of Waco."

He continued: "The city attorney will be instructed to draft a contract which will embody the demands of the city and at the same time not be unfair toward the traction company. If the Northern Texas Traction company accepts all right; if they do not—all right."

Mayor Dollins said that he thought the demands of a ten-year contract, upkeep of the fixtures, which at the end of ten years would belong to the company, and an increase in the term of the contract in proportion to the number of lights added by the city, unfair to the city, and for that reason was unwilling to sign the contract as it now stands. The new one will probably be ready within a few days. The recommendation of an ordinance to do away with all superfluous poles which now disfigure Austin street is now under consideration by the mayor. He stated that he would like very much to clear the street of

Riesel School Has Exercises Today

The closing exercises of the Riesel school will be held today, beginning at 9 o'clock, and there will be many features which will make the occasion one of moment in that wide-awake community.

There will be May-pole features, which will be of special interest to the children and also to the elders whose children are participants.

In the afternoon there will be speaking, and special arrangements have been made to have it so that talks will be snappy and interesting and also brief.

Tonight there will be presented by the pupils of the high school at Riesel a play entitled "Hickory Hollow School" and this is expected to prove quite a feature.

The day will be out of the ordinary at Riesel, and Waco friends or relatives will be welcomed, as will parties from other places.

Mexican Women Fight.
A Mexican woman was cut on the arm with a knife by another Mexican woman in a fray during the early part of last night. The fight occurred in a restaurant near Elm and Archer streets. Both were taken to jail where they are being held pending an investigation.

FEDERATED CLUBS TO ENTERTAIN DELEGATES

TELEGRAM OF GREETING WILL BE SENT TO MISS FRIEND IN NEW YORK.

Full Report Made on Humane Work.
Planting of Trees on Highways
Suggested.

It was decided by the Federation of Women's clubs at their meeting at the public library yesterday to entertain the delegates to the biennial meeting of the Federated Women's clubs, now meeting in New York City, upon their return. The delegates to the district convention of women's clubs will also be honored at the reception.

A telegram will be sent to Miss Kate Friend of Waco, who is a delegate to the national meeting of the Federation in New York. It is the nature of a greeting from the local Federation for the honor that she has done to herself and Waco. It will be sent today.

Reports were received from some of the standing committees which were the humane, entertainment and yearbook committees. Mrs. Mary Manton, chairman of the humane committee, reported that a great deal of work had been done the last month toward the alleviation of the condition of mistreated animals, five having been given a two weeks' vacation by their masters. Other lines of work such as the mistreatment of children had received the attention of the committee. Mrs. Manton complained that one paid man to do the work was insufficient, but because of the poverty of the treasury other help could not be employed.

She said that the most effective and quick way to put a stop to the mistreatment of animals that was going on in the city was to secure the cooperation of every woman and man in the city, for which she pleaded.

Some little discussion was had in regard to the sanitation of the dairies. It was finally decided after a lengthy discussion to get as many of the women as possible to visit the different dairies on tours of inspection. The work of getting the women together will be centralized by the presidents of the component organizations.

The relative merit of shade and fruit trees for the purpose of planting on the highways leading out of Waco also came in for its share of the discussion. Some advocated shade trees, while others wanted fruit trees.

Mrs. N. B. Kent of the Waco Welfare league announced that in the report that she was preparing for the league she was urging and recommending the planting alternately of nut and shade trees on the highways. She pointed out that nut trees would not be subject to depredation by mischievous boys as fruit trees would, on account of the height that they would attain.

Several complaints were made on account of the unsanitary manner in which foods were handled by a few of the merchants and grocers of the city. One case was cited of a grocer who was warned for leaving aged eggs, which had been broken, in an open case where they would be offensive to the customers, whereupon he showed them under the refrigerator for safe keeping.

Mrs. N. H. Church read a report of the district convention of women's clubs at Brenham, saying that the spirit of the convention was to be that of a desire for educating themselves for service. She asserted that rural problems predominated in the minds of the delegates.

Naval Officers Will Be in Waco Today to Pass on Applicants

With the arrival of J. J. Cunningham and Dr. J. B. Bostick of Dallas today, examinations will be held in room of the federal building for applicants for general service in the navy and navy reserve force.

Mr. Cunningham will arrive about 11 o'clock this morning and leave at 4:30. Applications for those who desire to join the citizens' training cruise will also be considered. Any persons who might go from Waco will be assigned to U. S. S. New Jersey of the Atlantic reserve fleet, which is stationed at Charleston, S. C. The cruise will last four weeks, all of which time the citizens will be under intensive training. The last week of the cruise will be devoted to maneuvers in which the men on the Atlantic seaboard will take part.

Recruiting Officer Hair of the local station reported the enlistment so far this week to the sixth, which bids fair to break the record for one week's enlistment in Waco. The previous record, which was made last year during the last Cotton Palace, was twenty-two today and tomorrow, in which to receive applications, Mr. Hair is certain that a new record will be made. He ascribes the enthusiasm of the applicants to the preparedness propaganda and publicity.

Two men were sent to Dallas yesterday for final examinations.

Revival Series Will Be Held at Edgefield

A protracted meeting will begin Sunday night at the Edgefield Methodist church, located at River and Cottonwood streets.

The services will be held in the open air adjoining the church, with a tent sheltering the platform and choir. It is thought that the arrangements will provide amply for the comfort of all who attend, and a cordial invitation is extended to members of other Methodist churches and in fact the various churches of the city and the public to attend.

Rev. Mr. Evans, who will do the preaching, is a revivalist of note, and has a singer with him. Rev. Mr. Evans is at the time conducting a meeting at the Herring Avenue Methodist church. The point where the meeting will be held is only three blocks from the South Fourth street car line, and is on well graveled streets.

COMMISSION ORDERS MANY NEW SIDEWALKS

CITY OFFICIALS TAKE STEPS
LOOKING TOWARD BETTER
STREET CONVENIENCES.

Richards Is Out of City and Brief
Session Is Held—Milk Ordinance Goes Over.

The movement looking to more sidewalks and curbs in the city was helped along yesterday by the meeting of the city commission, and walks and curbs were ordered in several different sections of Waco.

A coating of asphaltic oil and the fine gravel which is mixed with it will be put down on Franklin street from Sixth to Eighth and down Eighth to the Katy depot, according to a recommendation of Street Commissioner J. P. Stapp, which was adopted by the commission.

One or two ordinances which were to have come up went over, as the commission was not present yesterday. Commissioner Ben Richards being in San Antonio on official business.

Mayor John Dollins said that trees and curbs should be cleaned away from the Brazos bridges, as these were accumulating and causing a hazard in case of overflow. The owners of the bridges will be notified. The owners of the railroads and the interurban people.

MANY SIDEWALKS ARE ORDERED BUILT.

Sidewalks and curbs were ordered built on the following streets: Sixth to Eighth, North Fifteenth, Barron to West; Herring avenue, Fourth to Fifth; Herring avenue from Eighteenth to Twenty-first; South Eighth, Southwest to Wood; North Fifth, Brook to Herring; Morrow, Eighteenth to Twenty-second; North Second, Bridge to Jefferson; Asbury, Herring avenue to Lyle; South Third, Jones to Bosque; South Seventh, Speight to Bosque; Gorman, Eighteenth to Twenty-second.

Commissioner Cooker asked for the addition of the following streets for sidewalk ordinances: Brazos place, Barron to Burleson, West avenue from Fifteenth to Eighteenth.

Repairs on the city corral residence were decided on, also it was decided to fix up some of the troughs at the corral.

The grading and graveling of Clay street from Twenty-first to Twenty-fourth streets was asked in a petition from residents. Referred to the street commissioner.

And eight at Twenty-fifth and Bosque boulevards was requested by citizens of this section. This was referred to the light commissioner.

A petition asking for light at Seventh and Ivy was similarly referred.

The slaughter house ordinance and milk ordinance went over.

A contract which the Teamsters and Helpers union wanted was presented, and went over temporarily.

Alfred Abel protested that he could not get the use of his property on Jackson street between Sixth and Eighth because of the track of the Katy railroad, which he said was in the way.

A communication from Tom M. Hamilton, regarding the establishment of a commercial band in Waco, was presented by Mayor John Dollins, to whom the letter was addressed, mentioning having been made of this suggestion.

SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads, pimples, etc. There is one simple and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of powdered norexin from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the parts and every blackhead will be gone. Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of powdered norexin and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the powdered norexin and about two ounces will be all you will ever need.

gestion in these columns yesterday. No action was taken on the communication.

A. C. Brooks and W. C. Richter, in a printed communication, said that they were interested in the establishment of a sanitarium here for fallen girls and healing all manner of diseases, and contributions were asked from five cents to $500. This was referred to the chief of police.

The commission then adjourned.

Dyspeptics Should Avoid Drugs and Medicines

Try a Little Magnesia Instead.

Some people instinctively shut their eyes to danger, and it may be that in some cases, or custom or habit causes dyspeptics to take drugs, patent foods and medicines, artificial digestants, etc.

But closing the eyes does not banish the danger, and it is certain that neither drugs nor medicines possess the power to destroy the harmful excessive acid in the stomach, which is the underlying cause of most forms of indigestion and dyspepsia. They may give temporary relief, but ever increasing quantities must be taken, and all the time the acid remains in the stomach as dangerous as ever.

Physicians know this and that is why their advice so often to sufferers from digestive and stomach trouble is "Just get about an ounce of pure bisulphated magnesia from your druggist and take a teaspoonful in a little water immediately after every meal. This will instantly neutralize all the harmful acid in the stomach and stop all food fermentation, thus enabling you to enjoy hearty meals without experiencing the least pain or unpleasantness afterward."

Well Known Remedy Relieves Chronic Case

IMPORTANT TO DISPOSE OF
WASTE FROM THE STOMACH
WITH REGULARITY.

People frequently attribute to failure of the digestive organs conditions that are primarily due to inactive bowels, and apply remedies that from their very nature are more apt to aggravate than to relieve the disorder.

When the bowels act regularly the stomach is in better shape to perform its allotted tasks and can usually be depended upon. To keep the bowels in condition there is no more effective remedy than the combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is sold in drug stores for a few cents.

Dr. Caldwell has prescribed this remedy in his practice for over a quarter of a century and it is today the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. Thomas DeLoach, with the department of the interior, office of Indian affairs, at Washington, wrote Dr. Caldwell recently that "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best laxative I have any knowledge of and the cleaning up guaranteed by its use relieves every organ."

MR. THOS. DELOACH.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be on hand in every home for use when needed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill.

CONTRACT PROPOSED FOR WHITE WAY IS NOT FAIR--MAYOR

"The present contract for a white way for Austin street will not be signed," said Mayor John Dollins last night, "because it is only to the interest of the Northern Texas Traction company and not to the interest of the citizens of Waco."

He continued: "The city attorney will be instructed to draft a contract which will embody the demands of the city and at the same time not be unfair toward the traction company. If the Northern Texas Traction company accepts--all right; if they do not--all right."

Mayor Dollins said that he thought the demands of a ten-year contract, upkeep of the fixtures, which at the end of ten years would belong to the company, and an increase in the term of the contract in proportion to the number of lights added by the city, unfair to the city, and for that reason was unwilling to sign the contract as it now stands. The new one will probably be ready within a few days.

The recommendation of an ordinance to do away with all superfluous poles which now disfigure Austin street is now under consideration by the mayor. He stated that he would like very much to clear the street of

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE by Dr. Lewis Baker

Mrs. Belle C. writes: "I am informed that I have kidney trouble and that is fast approaching a serious stage. What would you prescribe?"

Answer: If you symptoms are the usual ones, such as puffs under the eyes, swelling ankles; scant, copious or foul-smelling urine, accompanied by headache, pain, depression, fever, chills, etc., I would advise the immediate use of balmwort tablets, a very fine remedy for such difficulties, sold in cardboard tubes with full directions for self-administration.

James J. asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My skin is itchy, my tongue is coated, have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with chronic constipation. Please help me."

Answer: You need a laxative blood-cleansing treatment in the form of three-grain sulphur tablets (not sulphur). Overcome the tendency to constipation and gradually your good health and pure blood will return.

"Poor Nerves" writes: "Is it possible to find a medicine which by its tonic or nutritive powers will bring the glow of health and ambition back to a man who has everything in the world but health and happiness? I am dull, forgetful, despondent, weak, trembling, short of breath and suffer more or less with pain in spine and back of head."

Answer: Your condition indicates the need of a strong, harmless tonic nutritive to restore nerve equilibrium, which in turn fortifies and strengthens the organs of nutrition, thus vitalizing the blood and promoting new cell and tissue to take care of the waste forces. Three-

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature. Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Edwards Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name, and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes, with full directions, are recommended in all such cases.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism as that can be very easily controlled by using the following. Get at the drugstore the ingredients named, mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bedtime and it should soon be entirely relieved of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodine of potassium, 1 oz. of wine of colchicum, 4 drams of sodium salicylate, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz. comp. essence cardui, and 5 oz. of karyp sarsaparilla. This has saved thousands and I am sure it will you.

C. J. R. asks: "Can I safely reduce my weight, and how?"

Answer: Go to a well-stocked drugstore and get five-grain arbolone tablets in sealed tube with complete directions. Take as directed, and you should soon feel the relief you desire. Many of my patients report quick results without any harmful action whatever.

Ellen J. asks: "Tell me, please, how I can increase my weight and improve my color. I seem to be anemic, weak and tired all the time."

Answer: Begin taking three-grain hypophosphite tablets with your meals and soon you will feel your strength returning and gradually your weight and color will improve. This is a most effective remedy if persistently used.

J. W. W. asks: "Can you prescribe a reliable treatment to get rid of dandruff, itching and feverish scalp?"

Answer: I know you can get instant relief and permanent results by using plain yellow minoyal as per directions which accompany each 4-oz. jar. (Advertisement.)

CHARLES A. WEATHERED, OWNER

COMMISSION ORDERS MANY NEW SIDEWALKS

CITY OFFICIALS TAKE STEPS
LOOKING TOWARD BETTER
STREET CONVENIENCES.

Richards Is Out of City and Brief
Session Is Held--Milk Ordinance Goes Over.

The movement looking to more sidewalks and curbs in the city was helped along yesterday by the meeting of the city commission, and walks and curbs were ordered in several different sections of Waco.

A coating of asphaltic oil and the fine gravel which is mixed with it will be put down on Franklin street from Sixth to Eighth and down Eighth to the Katy depot, according to a recommendation of Street Commissioner J. F. Stamp, which was adopted by the commission.

One or two ordinances which were to come up were not as the full commission was not present yesterday, Commissioner Ben Richards being in San Antonio on official business.

Mayor John Dollins said that trees and driftwood should be cleaned away from the Brazos bridges, as these were accumulating and causing a hazard in case of overflow. The owners of the bridges will be notified. The owners of the railroads and the interurban people.

MANY SIDEWALKS ARE ORDERED BUILT.

Sidewalks and curbs were ordered built on the following streets: Sanjour avenue from Eighteenth to Twenty-eighth; North Fifteenth, Barron to West; Herring avenue, Fourth to Fifth; Herring avenue from Eighteenth to Twenty-first; South Eighth, South Sixth, South Fifth, Brook to Herring; Morrow, Eighteenth to Twenty-second; North Second, Bridge to Jefferson; Ashbury, Herring avenue to Lyle; South Third, Jones to Bosque; South Seventh, Speight to Bosque; South Seventh, Baylor to Cleveland; Gorman, Eighteenth to Twenty-second.

Commissioner Cockcroft asked for the addition of the following streets for sidewalk order: Brazos street between Sixth and Eighth and down Eighth to the Katy depot, which was approved.

Repairs on the city corral residence were decided upon, also it was decided to fix up some of the troughs at the corral.

The grading and graveling of Clay street from Twenty-first to Twenty-fourth streets was asked in petition from residents. Referred to the street commissioner.

An arc light at Twenty-fifth and Bosque boulevards was requested by citizens of this section. This was referred to the light commissioner. A petition asking for arc light at Seventh and Ivy was similarly referred.

The slaughter house ordinance and milk ordinance were over. A contract which the Teamsters and Helpers union wanted was presented, and went over temporarily.

Alfred Abel protested that he could not get the use of his property on Jackson street between Sixth and Eighth because of the track of the Katy railroad, which he said was in the way.

A communication from Tom M. Hamilton, regarding the establishment of a commercial bank in Waco, was presented by Mayor John Dollins, to whom the letter was addressed, mentioning the having been made of this suggestion.

Thursday, June 8, is the date on which Dr. S. P. Brooks, candidate for the United States senate, will speak at Mart. There seems to have been a misunderstanding of the date, but this has been announced officially.

Rev. Mr. Evans, who will do the preaching, is a revivalist of note, and has a singer with him. Rev. Mr. Evans is at this time conducting a meeting at the Herring Avenue Methodist church. The point where the meeting will be held is only three blocks from the South Fourth street car line, and is on well gravelled streets.

SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of powdered yeroxin from your druggist--sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge--rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds--wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone. Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way--while this simple application of powdered yeroxin and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the powdered yeroxin, and about two ounces will be all you will ever need.

gestion in these columns yesterday. No action was taken on the communication.

A. C. Brooks and W. C. Richter, in a printed communication, said that they were interested in the establishment of a sanitarium here for fallen girls and healing all manner of diseases and contributions were asked from five cents to $500. This was referred to the chief of police.

The commission then adjourned.

TANNER'S ILL-FATED FUMBLE IS CLIMAX TO THIRTEEN INNINGS OF FINE BASEBALL.

PIRATES TAKE FIRST PLACE

Was One of Most Terrific Games Ever Staged on Coast Diamond—Kuhn Gets Bad Thumb.

Special to the Morning News.

Galveston, May 25.—After thirteen innings of fighting and after it seemed that Waco would stop the Pirates' winning streak, Galveston scored two runs and won one of the hardest fought games ever staged here by the score of 4 to 3.

Both Harfoot and Causey pitched good ball, but the latter gave way to Donalds in the tenth inning after Malmquist had batted for him. Both teams had men on bases during the game but were unable to score, brilliant fielding shutting off the rallies.

In the first a base on balls, stolen base, an out and a single gave Galveston their first run. After that neither side was able to push a man across the plate until the eighth.

In the eighth, after Kelly was out, Causey hit in front of the plate and went all the way to third when Noyes threw the ball to first. He scored on the single and Causey scored. Bittle stole second, scoring on Coyle's bingle to center.

In the ninth the Corsairs tied things up with two singles and a sacrifice. Donalds started pitching in the tenth and struck out six men. In the first of the thirteenth Kelly led off with a double to center and went to third on Donalds' out. He scored on Bittle's sacrifice fly.

In the last half a base on balls, a triple and Tanner's error gave Galveston two runs and the game.

Manager Hardy announced that Kuhn would be out of the game for several days because of a busted finger. The score:

ROTAN LOSES OUT: TWO TEXANS LEFT IN GOLF TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

Dallas, May 25.—One Arkansas man, two Texans and a Louisiana in the South running for the semi-finals in the result of the fourth round of the championship golf tournament. They are J. England of Little Rock, Arkansas champion; Eryan Heard, Houston; S. C. Hurst of the Lakewood club of Dallas, and R. G. Bush, New Orleans.

As was the case in the Atlanta tournament last year, Heard, the 44-year-old veteran, was paired in the fourth round with Perry Adair, 15 years old, of Atlanta. It was one of the most interesting matches of the day, and was followed by a large gallery. Age and not youth in this instance was not to be denied, Heard playing his opponent to the last hole.

One of the remarkable performances of the day was the elimination of George V. Rotan in the morning round 1 up and of Charles L. Dexter, title-holder in the afternoon round by R. G. Bush. By this feat the New Orleans man acquired the nickname of the "giant killer" and is held in strong favor as a contender in the finals, which will be played Saturday.

Ed Forsgard Wins State Championship at Dallas Shoot

By the Associated Press.

Dallas, May 25.—Ed Forsgard of Waco won the state professional championship at the thirty-ninth annual shoot of the Texas Sportsmen's association, which closed a two days' shoot here today, by averaging 85 hits out of 100 at the traps for the meet.

A. V. Cooke of Wellington was second and C. G. Spencer of St. Louis third with 82 each.

E. V. Fisher, Oklahoma City, in the target amateur event was first with a high average of 657. V. Cooke of Wellington second with 561 and Forest McNeir of Houston third with 557.

In this event C. G. Spencer of St. Louis, world's professional champion, upheld his title by capturing the six-century event with 160. Spuit was third and the second high professional with 555 and J. Wade of Dallas was third with 556.

Hallenbeck Colt Wins Metropolitan

By the Associated Press.

New York, May 25.—The Metropolitan handicap, the first big turf event of the eastern racing season, was won at Belmont park today by H. C. Finlay, carrying 120 pounds. The Finn won by three-quarters of a length from last year's winner, Spuit was third and the rest of the field well strung out.

WHITE KNOCKS SAYLOR OUT.

By the Associated Press.

Cincinnati, May 25.—Charlie White of Chicago knocked out Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis in the first round of their scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. The men weighed 130 pounds.

Special to the Morning News.

Galveston, May 25.—After thirteen 'innings of fighting and after it seemed that Waco would stop the Pirates' winning streak, Galveston scored two runs and won one of the hardest fought games ever staged here by the score of 4 to 3.

Both Barfoot and Causey pitched good ball, but the latter gave way to Donalds in the tenth inning after Malmquist had batted for him. Both teams had men on bases during the game, but were unable to score, brilliant fielding shutting off the rallies.

In the first a base on balls, stolen base, an out and a single gave Galveston their first run. After that neither side was able to push a man across the plate until the eighth.

In the eighth, after Reilly was out, Causey hit in front of the plate and went all the way to third when Noyes threw to the right field fence. Bittle singled and Causey scored in the tenth, scoring on Coyle's single to center.

In the ninth the Corsairs tied things up with two singles and a sacrifice hit. Donalds started pitching in the tenth and struck out ten men. In the first of the thirteenth Reilly led off with a double to center and went to third on Donalds' out. He scored on Bittle's sacrifice fly.

In the last half a base on balls, a triple and Tanner's error gave Galveston two runs and the game.

Manager Hardy announced that Kuhn would be out of the game for several days because of a busted finger.

DRESS

By Anne Rittenhouse

Copyright by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate, 120 West Thirty-second St., New York City.

Hair dressers decide that a new coiffure is due, and the hair is soon to be heaped high on the head, as shown here.

The United Efforts of Dressmakers and Hairdressers May Put the Steak Coffee Out of Fashion and Bring in Puffs, Curis and Braids.

New York, May 25.—The season is ripe for a change in coiffures. Simplicity has been the way that usual. The artist tell us that our hair dressing is utterly out of the picture without costumes and that we should do something to bring the hair into harmony.

A woman who designs remarkably good clothes for celebrities was discussing this subject the other day in the ballroom of the Biltmore, where Maurice and Florence Walton dance and where are to be found some of the best looking evening clothes in New York.

ORIENTAL COIFFURES; SPANISH COSTUMES.

"Look at the women with Louis Philippe gowns on and the sleek coiffures of India," she said. "It is not artistry to make a woman look like a queen, but to make her look like a woman."

"Each of these women is dressed after the period between 1760 and 1870, and during this century and decade the dress coiffure was not annexed to the costume."

The majority of these women, said the artist, are of the type of Louis XV and XVI periods, and to be well dressed, they should have the hair powdered and curled; if they are opposed to powdered hair and white wigs, they should at least arrange their hair after the period from which they take their gowns.

"Even the women who are wearing gowns that show the Spanish influence should have their hair piled high at the back of the head. The time is ripe for an elaborate chignon and a few women continue to wear these gowns, who will see that they will change the arrangement of their hair."

France thinks this, too, and so do the hair dressers in this country.

THE CORNU.

Paris has already launched an elaborate chignon, the arrangement of which the artist said is a puzzle. This cannot be worn under a hat, but it is most effective in the evening with the glancing, disheveled gowns which we wear at a rule, and these women claim that their fingers have lost their curling iron and these women claim that their fingers have lost their curling iron.

The one type of coiffure that everybody deplores except a few extremists is the bobbed hair, a la Castle, and the ornamental band around the brow—the latter, it is one of the eccentricities of the children.

There is a subtle side to the warm bath which is to all women of luxurious habits. It leaves a feeling of warmth, a strange elation of the spirit, and when it is performed with the seasons and further charmed. A good bit of soap, plenty of hot water and some sweet oil, low inventive, undressed—here are the real beautifiers of hot weather.

So, whether grandly equipped or very simply, both the bath and the hair are the basis of the season, both for the adult members of the family and for the children.

Hair dressers decide that a new coiffure is due, and the hair is soon to be heaped high on the head, as shown here.

The United Efforts of Dressmakers and Hairdressers May Put the Sleek Gifford Out of Fashion and Bring in Puffs, Curls and Braids.

New York, May 25.—The season is ripe for a change in coiffures. Simplicity has had a longer sway than usual. The artists tell us that our hair dressing has been too simple, too straight, too clean, too modern and that we should do something to bring it into harmony.

A woman who desires remarkably good clothes for celebrities was discussing this subject the other night in the ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton. She said that she and Florence Walton dance and where are to be found some of the best looking evening clothes in New York.

ORIENTAL COIFFURES; SPANISH COSTUMES.

"Look at the women with Louis Philippe hair," said a woman of French extraction, "it is not aristocratic to combine farthingales and farthingales, blue ribbons and silver shoes, with day dresses. There is not a period in dress which we are adapting to this season that calls for such coiffures."

She pointed out a half dozen women who were dancing or supping and outlined the incongruity between their heads and their figures.

Each of these women is dressed after the period between 1760 and 1870, and during this century and decade, the sleek, oriental coiffure was not annexed to the costume. The majority of these women have on gowns that are copied from the Louis XV and XVI periods, and to the hairdressers, they should have the powdered and piled high on the head with pendant curls; if they are opposed to the hair, they should have the hair should at least arrange their hair after the period from which they take their gowns.

"Even the women who are wearing gowns that show the Spanish influence should have their hair piled high at the back of the head. The time is ripe for an elaborate chignon, and if women continue to wear these gowns, you will find that they will change the arrangement of their hair."

France thinks this, too, and so do the hair dressers in this country.

THE CORNU.

Paris has already launched an elaborate campaign of the "cornu" of plenty. This cannot be worn under a hat, but it is most effective in the evening with the hair parted down the middle, which we wear. As a rule, it requires false hair, and this idea delights the hair dressers; they claim that their fingers have lost their cunning throughout these barren years of sleek, uncured locks.

Each of these women is dressed after the period between 1760 and 1870, and during this century and decade, the sleek, oriental coiffure was not annexed to the costume. There is a subtle side to the warm bath known to all women of luxurious toilet. The hair is washed with a strange elation of the spirit, and when it is performed as well the senses are further charmed. A good bit of soap, plenty of hot water and some sweet odor, with an adequate supply of dainty and suitable lingerie understood—here the real beautifier of hot weather so, whether grandly equipped or very simply, the bath room is a very important chamber of the home, both for the adult members of the family and for the children.

Waco Citizens Will Turn Out Almost En Masse to Welcome Flood Committee

The special train carrying the members of the congressional flood committee and their escort of honor will arrive in Waco this afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at the Cotton Belt depot, instead of at 8 p. m., as the original schedule planned, according to a special message received by the Morning News from Caldwell, Texas, shortly before midnight. This change is made necessary because of important business coming up in Washington which necessitates the change of plans by the committee. Instead of remaining over in Waco during the night, the committee will leave at 11 o'clock tonight on a rush return to the capitol. All arrangements for the committee have been made on a basis of their arrival at 8 p. m.

On learning of the change in time of arrival, W. V. Crawford, in charge of arrangements, said last night that all preparation to greet and entertain the distinguished visitors would be moved up accordingly. The parade will be formed by Mayor John Dolins, president of the Cotton Belt depot at 4:45, and the banquet will be held, beginning promptly at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock. There will be about thirty in the special party, according to advices received last night.

That will be a royal reception accorded the committee on flood control of the Brazos and Colorado rivers when the committee reaches Waco this afternoon, accompanied by the local contingent and the congressional committee comes in under the auspices of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement association, of which W. W. Seley is president.

The congressional committee on flood control and others with them will be on a special train, which will arrive over the H. & T. C. railroad at 4:45 o'clock, the train to be met by a monster preparedness parade, which has been decided on and an order issued to the purpose by Mayor John Dolins, president of the Cotton Belt depot at 4:45, and the banquet will be held, beginning promptly at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock. There will be about thirty in the special party, according to advices received last night.

The police officers dressed in white, marching abreast the full width of the street, will lead the parade, according to the plan by Chairman W. V. Crawford of the parade committee, as announced, and it is expected that this will be a spectacular affair.

CITIZENS URGED TO TURN OUT EN MASSE.

Citizens are urgently requested to turn out this evening and participate in the parade, as the visit to Waco of this committee means more than any thing which has been noted in a long while, having to do with the improvement of the streams for navigation purposes for light draught boats.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce, Y. M. C. A. and Rotary club are requested to meet in a body, together with the officers and directors of the organizations, at 4:30 p. m. At the banquet at the Hotel Raleigh after the parade there will be music and entertainment furnished by Miss Stella Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Joseph G. Thomas and Misses Bird and Fay Hoffmann.

The flood control committee is visiting many points on the Brazos and Colorado rivers, and with them on the Brazos trip since the start several days ago have been President W. W. Seley of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement association and Secretary James Hays Quarles of the same organization. The committee will remain in Waco until Saturday morning and will go from here to Hearne, Navasota and Houston, reaching the last named place at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

The equipment of the special train consists of a day coach, baggage car, private hotel car, private Pullman sleeping car and locomotive.

The members of the committee on flood control are as follows:
Hon. B. G. Humphreys, chairman, Mississippi; Hon. Finis J. Garrett, Tennessee; Hon. M. J. Foster, Illinois; Hon. Cyrus Cline, Indiana; Hon. Joseph Russell, Mississippi; Hon. Riley J. Wilson, Louisiana; Hon. Carl Vinson, Georgia; Hon. Jeff McLemore, Texas; Hon. Robert Crosser, Ohio; Hon. William A. Rodenberg, Illinois; Hon. Charles F. Curry, California; Hon. William R. Wood, Indiana; Hon. James W. Husted, New York; Hon. Charles C. Kearney, Ohio; Hon. W. P. Martin, Louisiana; Robert B. Gordon, sergeant-at-arms; S. Vanderson, clerk. This committee was created by a resolution in the house of representatives of the Sixty-fourth congress, February, 1916.

Executive Committee of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement Association—W. W. Seley, Waco, president; A. W. Wilkerson, Bryan, vice president; John M. Moore, Richmond, vice president; J. W. Munson, Angleton, vice president; D. C. Giddings, Brenham, vice president; H. Miller, Belleville, vice president; Ward Templeman, Navasota, vice president; James Hays Quarles, Waco, secretary.

Committee on Reception and Escort—Hon. Homer D. Wade, Freeport; Hon. A. A. Siles, state reclamation engineer, Austin; Hon. J. C. Nagle, chairman board of water engineers, Austin; Hon. J. R. Astin, state senator, Bryan; William Doherty, vice president and general manager Arcola Sugar Mills, Houston; C. A. Jones, general manager Freeport Sulphur company, Freeport; Hon. George D. Neal, attorney, Navasota; James O. Chance, planter, Bryan; J. P. Lane, attorney, Hearne; Oscar Robinson, planter and merchant, Hearne; R. M. Farrar, president Chamber of Commerce, Houston; Adolph Boldt, secretary Chamber of Commerce, Houston; L. M. Hewitt, secretary Commercial club, Navasota; W. T. Eldridge, sugar manufacturer and refiner, Sugarland; G. G. Kelly, chairman Colorado River Improvement association for Wharton county, Wharton; and members of the executive committee of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement association.

Guests—Hon. J. P. Buchanan, member of congress, Brenham; Hon. E. P. Swenson, of Swenson & Sons, New York; A. G. Whittington, general manager, Gulf Coast lines, Houston; J. S. Pyatt, president and general manager Gulf Coast lines, Houston; J. C. Nolan, superintendent Texas division, Gulf Coast lines, Houston; G. A. Cushing, assistant general manager Sunset-Central lines, Houston; G. A. Zumwalt, druggist, Columbus; B. B. Hunt, Columbus; James B. Baker, capitalist, Waco; B. C. Roberts, Wharton; H. Temple, superintendent maintenance of way, S. A. & A. P. Ry.

Despondency Drives Man to Take His Life in City Jail

The body still warm but pulseless, through having the life literally choked out by a heavy hemp cord which had been attached to a loop in a handkerchief which had been tied around an iron rod of the iron bed, F. W. Doyle of Skidmore, Texas, was found by Deputy Sheriff Tom Gross at the city hall yesterday morning. Doyle's neck where the cord had cut into it was swollen and distorted when he was found.

The body was cut down by Will Moore of the John Fall Undertaking company, who took the remains to the parlors of the company until word could be received regarding the disposition of the remains. Doyle looked about twenty-eight years old and was a large and fine-looking young fellow.

He was in the woman's department at the city hall, permission having been granted him Wednesday night to sleep there by Night Chief Charles James. Doyle was found Wednesday night about 9:55 by some of the police officers near the corner of Fourth and Mary streets. He appeared to be sick or dazed and not at himself. He stated that he was sick and was on his way to Marlin to take the baths, asking to be allowed to stay at the city hall Wednesday night. He was given the woman's department, which had no occupants at the time, and this being a good iron bed, it was thought that he would get a suitable night's rest there. He went to the room and presumably to bed, though when found yesterday he was dressed only in a pair of trousers and a shirt. He had on very good clothes, the outer garments being tailor made and in good condition. Night Chief James asked Deputy Tom Gross yesterday morning before he left to wake Doyle in time for him to get off to Marlin, and that was what Tom Gross started to do about 7:40 when he went into the room. Doyle was sitting down, partly on the floor, with one limb stretched out and the other partly under him, everything indicating that he had deliberately choked himself by hanging with the heavy cord attached to the looped handkerchief, the handkerchief having been attached to the cross-bar at the top of the bed's foot-piece. The body was yet warm when found, showing that he had suicided after dawn.

The body was viewed by Justice Giles P. Lester, whose verdict will be suicide by hanging. The body was taken as quickly as possible to the John Fall Undertaking company by Will Moore and prepared for burial as soon as instructions should be received from relatives.

A Woodmen of the World book, found in the pockets of Doyle, showed that he was a member of Orange camp No. 1961, and his dues were paid up. He only had one dollar in money in his purse, this being a half and two quarters. His Woodmen membership gives him $1000 insurance.

A telegram was received by the John Fall Undertaking company yesterday stating that J. H. Doyle, father of the young man, would come to Waco from Skidmore just as quickly as he could make the trip.

AROUSING INTEREST IN HOOD'S REUNION

President R. V. Arnold of Hood's Texas brigade spent yesterday in Waco from his home in Rockdale, working up interest in the coming forty-fifth annual reunion of the famous brigade, and from the earnest and effective effort made by the president it is thought that quite a number from Waco will attend.

President Arnold called particular attention to the fact that the date of the meeting of the brigade has been changed from October to June, and the 1916 meeting will be held in Rockdale June 28 and 29. Last year the reunion was held in Floresville in October. Miss Kate Daffan of Austin is the secretary of the brigade.

Speaking of the program for the two days President Arnold said the time would be full, and that the people of Rockdale are with him in extending an invitation to the people to attend. The annual address will be delivered the opening morning by Dr. S. A. Steele of Columbia, S. C., while at 2:30 the same day there will be an address by Governor James Ferguson. At night Dr. Steele will deliver a second address, and he ranks at the very top as a speaker, being particularly eloquent in his patriotic addresses.

Cotton Palace Plan of Active Manager Is Commended

The plan which has been adopted by the Cotton Palace people of having an active manager who shall give his time to the proposition, in addition to the efforts of Secretary Seth N. Mayfield, has been generally commended on as the sensible and practical step to take.

It has long been contended by some that with a matter of such magnitude there were too few persons giving all their time to it, leaving much to be done amid a great rush at the last. This, it is claimed, has been almost unavoidable in the past, but the institution has now grown to a point where it is not only possible but necessary for a number of men to give their entire time to the project, thus insuring that the big exposition will be handled more systematically and successfully from year to year. Even the Mardi Gras festivities at New Orleans, which only last for a short time and do not take in such a wide variety of features as the Cotton Palace, claim the full time of many men throughout the entire year, and no sooner is one Mardi Gras completed than work begins within twenty-four hours on the features of the next one, and never stop until it has been started.

It is thought that the new plan will prove generally satisfactory.

Waco Shriners Are Looking Toward Buffalo Conclave

The Waco Shriners are already looking forward to the big gathering in Buffalo, New York, in July, at which time the Mystic Shriners of all branches will meet and hold a great conclave for four days.

The gathering of Shriners in Buffalo will bring members from all sections of the United States, and the railroads have made very low rates for the occasion. From Waco, for instance, the round trip rate will be only $4.15, which is but little more than the fare in one direction. There will probably be a special train carrying the Texas delegation, and plans for the railroad trip and other features will be made within a short time.

The national meeting last year was held in California, and took immense numbers out there.

Recruiting Officer Wants Reserve Men to Be in Parade

Navy Recruiting Officer Hair is making every effort possible in an endeavor to rally all ex-service men in the city and adjoining territory in time to participate in the big parade tonight, and requests all who are willing to enter the parade to meet in room 22 of the federal building tonight at 7 o'clock, from whence they will go in a body to the union station to take their places in the procession.

Mr. Hair stated that for the last few days he has been sending out letters to ex-service men requesting their support in making a good showing for the navy, and he will be disappointed if many of them do not answer the call, in full uniform, many having already promised to come. "I am expecting some from Robinson, McGregor and other surrounding towns," he said, "and while many of them may not have their uniforms, I want them to be in the parade anyhow, as I am desirous of having a strong representation of the navy."

Old Brindle Is Being Touched for Her Milk

There have been all varieties, shades and kinds of thefts, depredations and misdoings recorded in Waco in the past few years, just as in other cities of the same size, but a new kind of purloining has come to light in the western section of the city.

A gentleman residing there has some cows in a little pasture adjoining his residence, and recently he has noted that one or two of the milkers failed to give any milk in the morning. He was at first puzzled, but investigation developed the fact that while he slept someone was extracting the lactical fluid from the teats of the cows. The nocturnal prowlers who have been up to the mischief will probably be apprehended, as the owner of the cows is going to turn into a night hawk himself for a while, and will keep a watch over his bovines.

This is the first instance of this kind which has been reported, and it is a new method of getting a food supply.

TO CONFER ON KATY HOSPITAL PROJECTS

An important meeting is booked for this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at which time committees from the Katy and American Express Employees' association will meet with committees from the Chamber of Commerce and K. M. P. L. regarding the matter of establishing here the big hospital of the Katy railroad.

The first named committee yesterday met the Chambers of Commerce, Dallas and Fort Worth and went over the matter with them. Waco is making a strong effort to insure the big institution, and will try and show the committee why it should be located here. The committee representing the Katy and American Express Employees' association is composed of very prominent men, as follows: General Manager H. F. Anderson of the Katy, Dallas; Conductor T. A. Murphy, Denison, who is also president of the Katy Hospital association, and C. E. Gamble, agent of the Katy at Houston.

The hospital which it is proposed to locate in some of the Texas cities on the Katy lines will cost a round sum in building and equipping, probably close to $250,000, and will disburse large sums of money in the way of upkeep annually, and it is a plum worth going after with vigor. Waco is located well for the hospital, but has keen competition, and will have to make a strong showing in order to pull over the proposition, it is thought.

The stated communication of J. H. Garley Lodge No. 337 will be held at the new Masonic temple, corner 8th and Washington Sts., at 7:45 p. m. today. Visiting brethren invited.

AROUSING INTEREST IN HOOD'S REUNION

President B. V. Arnold of Hood's Texas brigade spent yesterday in Waco from his home in Rockdale, working up interest in the coming forty-fifth annual reunion of the famous brigade, and from the earnest and effective effort made by the president it is thought that quite a number from Waco will attend.

President Arnold called particular attention to the fact that the date of the meeting of the brigade has been changed from October to June, and the 1916 meeting will be held in Rockdale June 28 and 29. Last year the reunion was held in Floresville in October. Miss Kate Daffan of Austin is the secretary of the brigade.

Speaking of the program for the two days President Arnold said the time would be full, and that the people of Rockdale are with him in extending an invitation to the people to attend. The annual address will be delivered the opening morning by Dr. S. A. Steele of Columbia, S. C., while at 2:30 the same day there will be an address by Governor James Ferguson. At night Dr. Steele will deliver a second address, and he ranks at the very top as a speaker, being particularly eloquent in his patriotic addresses.

Cotton Palace Plan of Active Manager Is Commended

The plan which has been adopted by the Cotton Palace people of having an active manager who shall give his time to the proposition, in addition to the efforts of Secretary S. N. Mayfield, has been generally commended on as the sensible and practical step to take.

It has long been contended by some that with a matter of such magnitude there were too few persons giving all their time to it, leaving much to be done amid a great rush at the last. This, it is claimed, has been almost unavoidable in the past, but the institution has now grown to a point where it is not only possible but necessary, in the view of many, to have men to give their entire time to the project, thus insuring that the big exposition will be handled more systematically and successfully from year to year. Even the Mardi Gras festival, held in New Orleans, which only last for a short time and does not take in such a wide variety of features as the Cotton Palace, claim the full time of many men throughout the entire year, and no sooner is one Mardi Gras completed than work begins within twenty-four hours on the features of the next one, and never stop until it has been staged.

It is thought that the new plan will prove generally satisfactory.

Waco Shriners Are Looking Toward Buffalo Conclave

The Waco Shriners are already looking forward to the big gathering in Buffalo, New York, in July, at which time the Mystic Shriners of all branches will meet and hold a great conclave for four days.

The gathering of Shriners in Buffalo will bring members from all sections of the United States, and the railroads have made very low rates for the occasion. From Waco, for instance, the round trip rate will be only $49.15, which is but little more than the fare in one direction. There will probably be a special train carrying the Texas delegation, and plans for the railroad trip and other features will be made within a short time.

The national meeting last year was held in California, and took immense numbers out there.

Waco Citizens Will Turn Out Almost En Masse to Welcome Flood Committee

The special train carrying the members of the congressional flood committee and their escort of honor will arrive in Waco this afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at the Cotton Belt depot, instead of at 8 p. m., as the original schedule planned, according to a special message received by the Morning News from Caldwell, Texas, shortly before midnight. This change is made necessary because of important business concerns in Waco, which necessitates the change of plans by the committee. Instead of remaining over in Waco during the night, the committee will leave at 11 o'clock tonight on a rush return to the capital. All arrangements for the committee have been made on a basis of their arrival at 8 p. m.

On learning of the change in time of arrival, W. V. Crawford, in charge of arrangements, said last night that all preparation to greet and entertain the distinguished visitors would be moved accordingly. The parade will be formed at the Cotton Belt depot at 4:45, and the banquet will be held, beginning promptly at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock. There will be about thirty in the flood special party, according to advices received last night.

That will be a royal reception accorded the committee on flood control of the Brazos and Colorado rivers when the committee reaches Waco this afternoon, accompanied by the local contingent and the congressional committee comes in under the auspices of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement association, of which W. W. Seley is president.

The congressional committee on flood control and others with them will be on a special train, which will arrive over the H. & T. C. railroad at 4:45 o'clock, the train to be met by a monster preparedness parade, which has been decided on and an order issued to that purport by Mayor John Dolins. President Perry A. Duncan of the Y. M. B. L., President J. M. Penland of the Chamber of Commerce and President B. C. Nettles of the Rotary club; each of the thousands joining in the parade will be expected to carry the Stars and Stripes. The Boy Scouts, the police officers in their white uniforms, Baylor band, a section of the fire department, thousands with their flags, will form a great spectacle marching from the depot at Fourth and Mary streets to the Raleigh hotel, passing up Fourth to Austin and out Austin westward to Eighth, where the great banquet will be held. Representatives of the army and navy, local organizations and many others will join in the parade, some in full uniform.

The police officers dressed in white, marching abreast the full width of the street, will lead the parade, according to the plan by Chairman W. V. Crawford of the parade committee, as announced, and it is expected that this will be a spectacular affair.

CITIZENS URGED TO TURN OUT EN MASSE.

Citizens are urgently requested to turn out this evening and participate in the parade, as the visit to Waco of this committee means more than anything which has been noted in a long while, having to do with the improvement of the streams for navigation purposes for light draught boats.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce, Y. M. B. L. and Rotary club are requested to meet in a body, together with the officers and directors of the organizations, at 4:30 p. m. at the banquet at the Hotel Raleigh after the parade there will be music and entertainment furnished by Miss Stella Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Joseph G. Wren and Misses Bird and Fay Hoffman.

The flood control committee is visiting many points on the Brazos and Colorado rivers, and with them on the Brazos trip since the start several days ago have been President W. W. Seley of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement association and Secretary James Hays Quarles of the same organization. The committee will remain in Waco until Saturday morning and will go from here to Hearne, Navasota and Houston, reaching the last named place at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

The equipment of the special train consists of a day coach, baggage car, private hotel car, private Pullman sleeping car and locomotive.

The members of the committee on flood control are as follows:
Hon. B. G. Humphreys, chairman, Mississippi; Hon. Finis J. Garrett, Tennessee; Hon. M. J. Foster, Illinois; Hon. Cyrus Cline, Indiana; Hon. Joseph Russell, Mississippi; Hon. Riley J. Wilson, Louisiana; Hon. Carl Vinson, Georgia; Hon. Jeff. McLeMORE, Texas; Hon. Robert Crosser, Ohio; Hon. William A. Rodenberg, Illinois; Hon. Charles R. Curry, California; Hon. William B. Wood, Indiana; Hon. James W. Husted, New York; Hon. Charles C. Kearns, Ohio; Hon. W. P. Martin, Louisiana; Robert B. Gordon, sergeant-at-arms; S. Vanderson, clerk. This committee was created by a resolution in the house of representatives of the Sixty-fourth congress, February, 1916.

Executive Committee of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement association—W. W. Seley, Waco, president; A. W. Wilkerson, Bryan, vice president; John M. Moore, Richmond, vice president; J. W. Munson, Angleton, vice president; V. C. Giddings, Brenham, vice president; H. Miller, Belleville, vice president; Ward Templeman, Navasota, vice president; James Hays Quarles, Waco, secretary.

Committee on Reception and Escort—Hon. Homer D. Wade, H. report; Hon. A. A. Stiles, state reclamation engineer, Austin; Hon. J. C. Nagle, chairman board of water engineers, Austin; Hon. J. R. Astin, state senator, Bryan; William Doherty, vice president and general manager Arcola Sugar Mills, Houston; C. A. Jones, general manager Freeport Sulphur company, Freeport; Hon. George D. Neal, attorney, Navasota; James O. Chance, planter, Bryan; J. Felton Lane, attorney, Hearne; Oscar Robinson, planter and merchant, Hearne; R. M. Farrar, president Chamber of Commerce, Houston; Adolph Boldt, secretary of Commerce, Houston; L. M. Hewitt, secretary Commercial club, Navasota; W. T. Eldridge, sugar manufacturer and refiner, Sugarland; G. G. Kelly, chairman Colorado River Improvement association, for Wharton county, Wharton; and members of the executive committee of the Brazos River and Valley Improvement association.

Guests—Hon. J. P. Buchanan, member of congress, Brenham; Hon. E. P. Swenson, of Swenson & Sons, New York; A. G. Whittington, general manager I. & G. N. railroad; W. B. Scott, president Sunset-Central lines, Houston; J. C. Nolan, superintendent Texas division, Gulf Coast lines; F. G. Pettibone, vice president and general manager, C. & S. G. Gaston; E. H. Temple, president and general manager Sunset-Central lines, Houston; O. A. Zumwalt, druggist, Columbus; B. B. Hunt, Columbus; James B. Baker, C. B. Talbot, Waco; B. C. Wharton; H. H. Temple, superintendent maintenance of way, S. A. & A. P. Ry.

At the big banquet there will be covers laid for from 150 to 175 persons. Hon. O. L. Strickling has been selected as toastmaster for the occasion, and the Waco speakers thus far selected are Sol Hirschberg, President J. M. Penland of the Chamber of Commerce and Harry M. Balne, ex-president of the last named organization.

Despondency Drives Man to Take His Life in City Jail

The body still warm but pulseless, through having the life literally choked out by a heavy hemp cord which had been attached to a loop in a handkerchief which had been tied around an iron rod of the iron bed, P. W. Doyle of Skidmore, Texas, was found by Day Turnkey Tom Gross at the city hall yesterday morning.

Doyle's neck where the cord had cut it was swollen and distorted when he was found.

The body was cut down by Will Moore of the John Fall Undertaking company, who took the remains to the parlors of the company until word was received regarding the disposition of the remains. Doyle looked to be about twenty-eight years old and was a large and fine-looking young fellow.

He was the woman's department at the city hall, permission having been granted him Wednesday night to sleep there by Night Chief Charles James. Doyle was found Wednesday morning about 9:55 by some of the police officers near the corner of Fourth and Mary streets. He appeared to be sick or dazed and not at himself.

He stated that he was sick and was on his way to Martin to take the baths, asking to be allowed to stay at the city hall Wednesday night. He was given the woman's department, which had no occupants at the time, and this place having a good iron bed, it was thought that he would get a suitable night's rest there. He went to the room and presumably to bed, though when found yesterday he was dressed except that he did not have on his coat. He had on a very good clean suit, the outer garments being tailor made and in good condition. Night Chief James asked Day Turnkey Tom Gross yesterday morning before he left to wake Doyle in time for him to get off to Martin, and that was what Turnkey Gross started to do about 7:40 when he went into the room. Doyle was sitting down, partly on the floor, with one limb stretched out and the other partly under him, everything indicating that he had deliberately choked himself by hanging with the heavy cord attached to the looped handkerchief, the handkerchief having been attached to the cross bar at the top of the bed's foot-piece. The body was yet warm when found, showing that he had suicided after dawn.

The body was viewed by Justice Giles P. Lester, whose verdict will be suicide by hanging. The body was taken as quickly as possible to the John Fall Undertaking company by Will Moore and prepared for burial as soon as instructions should be received from relatives.

A Woodmen of the World book, found in the pockets of Doyle, showed that he was a member of Orange camp No. 1961, and his dues were paid up. He only had one dollar in money in his purse, this being a half and two quarters. His Woodmen membership gives him $1000 insurance.

A telegram was received by the John Fall Undertaking company yesterday stating that J. H. Doyle, father of the young man, would come to Waco from Skidmore just as quickly as he could make the trip.

Recruiting Officer Wants Reserve Men to Be in Parade

Navy Recruiting Officer Hair is making every effort possible in an endeavor to rally all ex-service men in the city and adjoining territory in time to participate in the big parade tonight, and requests all who are willing to enter the parade to meet in room 22 of the federal building tonight at 7 o'clock, from whence they will go in a body to the union station to take their places in the procession.

Mr. Hair stated that for the last few days he has been sending out letters to ex-service men requesting their support in making a good showing for the navy, and he will be disappointed if many of them do not answer the call, in full uniform, many having already promised to come. "I am expecting some from Robinson, McGregor and other surrounding towns," he said, "and while many of them may not have their uniforms, I want them to be in the parade anyhow, as I am desirous of having a strong representation at the navy."

Old Brindle Is Being Touched for Her Milk

There have been all varieties, shades and kinds of thefts, depredations and misdoings recorded in Waco in the past few years, just as in other cities of the same size, but a new kind of purloining has come to light in the western section of the city.

A gentleman residing there has some cows in a little pasture adjoining his residence, and recently he has noted that one or two of the milkers failed to give any milk in the morning. He was at first puzzled, but investigation developed the fact that while he slept someone was extracting the lactated fluid from the teats of the cows. The nocturnal prowlers who have been up to the mischief will probably be apprehended, as the owner of the cows is going to turn into a night hawk himself for a while, and will keep a watch over his bovines.

This is the first instance of this kind which has been reported, and it is a new method of getting a food supply.

TO CONFER ON KATY HOSPITAL PROJECTS

An important meeting is booked for this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at which time committees from the Katy and American Express Employees' association will meet with committees from the Chamber of Commerce and Y. M. B. L. regarding the matter of establishing here the big hospital of the Katy railroad.

The first named committee yesterday met the Chambers of Commerce in Dallas and Fort Worth and went over the matter with them. Waco is making a strong effort to insure the big institution, and will try and show the committee why it should be located here. The committee representing the Katy and American Express Employees' association is composed of very prominent men, as follows: General Manager H. P. Anderson of the Katy, Dallas; Conductor T. A. Murphy, Denison, who is also president of the Katy Hospital association, and C. E. Gamble, agent of the Katy at Houston.

The hospital which it is proposed to locate in some of the Texas cities on the Katy lines will cost a round sum in building and equipping, probably close to $250,000, and will dispense large sums of money in the way of upkeep annually, and it is a plum worth going after with vigor. Waco is located well for the hospital, but has keen competition, and will have to make a strong showing in order to pull over the proposition. It is thought.

The stated communication of J. H. Gurley Lodge No. 337 will be held at the new Masonic temple, corner 8th and Washington Sts., at 7:45 p. m. today. Visiting brethren invited.
